THE BEECHER TRIAL

Two Journalists on the Witness Stand.

One of Them Gives a History of His Career.

Oliver Johnson's Opinion of "the Woodhull Woman."

How a Spiritualist Answered a Question.

"Gradual Change in Tilton's Religious Views."

NEW YORK, March 10, 1875.

About thirty women occupied seats in the Court room this morning when the Tilton-Beecher proceedings opened. Bessie Turner sat side by side with Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Field and Mrs. Shearman. The principals were also present.

Mr. McKelvy resumed the stand and continued his direct examination and testified: Mr. Tilton said that when Bowen saw the letter in which his (Bowen's) charges against Beecher were recounted, he was willing to come to terms with Tilton; Mr. Tilton brought these charges into his allegory, saying that this young man had an employer who exhibited animosity against this other man, and made a statement about him; he told this young man not to repeat those stories, and the young man said that he would use them if he saw fit; this was the cause of his (Tilton's) leaving the Brooklyn Union and Independent; the reason I called on Tilton was because I wanted some Information About the Story.

After I got the papers from Harmon I took them to the Eagle office and read the portions of them that I wanted to another gentleman, who took them down in short hand; this gentleman's name is McLean; he was then on the staff, but is now managing editor; I then folded these papers carefully up and left them in the Eagle office, subject to the call of Harmon.

Crossed-Examined by Mr. Fullerton.

I called on Beecher after the publication of the Woodhull scandal. I found Beecher at his house, and we went together to the Eagle office, where he remained about fifteen minutes; Beecher conferred with Kinsella, the owner of the paper, in my presence; Beecher and I then went to the office of Moulton, where he conferred with him partly private and partly in my presence; Moulton was sitting at the desk with the wire fence around it; he rose at Beecher's entrance, and they spoke together; I was at the other end of the room; Beecher, Moulton and I then went out and crossed on the Fulton ferry boat, and I believe the others went over in the Wall street ferry; I was but nothing did turn up out of this; I do not know of any other occasion on which Beecher visited Kinsella; the charges of Bowen against Beecher were first published in the Brooklyn Sunday Press, and afterwards copied into the Eagle, but through no act of mine.

Waiting for Something to Turn Up,

Re-direct Examination.

Mr. McDermott was then editor of the Sunday Press, but he was not, to my knowledge, on the staff of the Eagle.

Oliver Johnson Called.

Oliver Johnson was the next witness called. He testified in answer to Mr. Tracy: I reside in New York; am a journalist; I have been one for forty years; I formerly knew Theodore Tilton and have for about twenty-one years; I know Henry C. Bowen for nearly the same time; I know Henry Ward Beecher since he first settled in Brooklyn; when I first became acquainted with Tilton I was on the Anti-Slavery Standard; in 1865 I went on the Independent, [illegible] editor of the Weekly Tribune; after that I was on the Christian Union; when I was on the Independent Tilton was editor-in-chief and I was managing editor of the paper; Bowen was the proprietor of the paper; it was at Tilton's earnest solicitation that I got a situation on the Independent; my intimate acquaintanceship with Tilton ended in 1872; in either 1871 or 1872 I met Wilkinson in Broadway; I knew him as a stockholder in the Christian Union; there was a conversation between us in relation to going on that paper; in November, 1872, I had an interview with Beecher, the result of which was my engagement on the Christian Union as editor of that paper; during my intimacy with Tilton he said he regarded me as

One of his Best Friends.

In 1870 Tilton came to me with the letter from Mr. Bowen, giving him notice that at the end of six months Tilton's contract as editor of the Independent would cease; he said to me that he would have a better contract out of Bowen than the one he held; he proposed to resign then, and make fresh contracts with Bowen. Tilton informed me afterwards that Bowen had made a contract with him on the Independent either for $1,000 a week or $1,000 an article; he had also, Tilton said, given him a contract with the Brooklyn Union; I saw Bowen, and had a conversation with him, and then went to Tilton and told him Bowen wished to see him; I told him Bowen had showed me a charging him with an assault upon her chastity, and he had also shown me a letter from Winsted, Connecticut, charging him with improprieties at a hotel there, and that Mr. Bowen said these were not all the charges against Tilton he had heard; Tilton said these charges were false, and told me the name of the lady who wrote the letter; it was the same name as Mr. Bowen told me; Tilton said, in regard to this lady, that he had been in bed with her; Tilton told me that the Winsted story was susceptible of change, that Miss Lovejoy had accompanied him to Winsted by a particular desire of his wife when he was going on a lecturing tour; he said, to avoid being detained by the fog in the river, when starting in the morning for Connecticut, they went to New York the night before and took lodgings at St. Dennis' Hotel; I had a conversation with Tilton in the Golden Age office in September, 1871, about his acquaintance with

Letter From a Lady

The Woodhull Woman.

I talked sharply with him, and rebuked him for being acquainted with her and publishing her life; he said he regarded this work as one of the best of his productions, and said he would not permit me to say anything against her, as she was one of the best and purest women that ever lived. He assigned no motive except his appreciation of her and pride in his work. Mr. Tilton asked me to purchase some shares in the Tribune for his father, so they might stand in his name. They were so purchased and were held in this manner.

Witness was asked if he, when in the Christian Union, received any instructions from Beecher as to how he should treat the Golden Age.

This was objected to as incompetent by the plaintiff's counsel, and an argument ensued, but it was ultimately ruled out by the Court.

The witness continued: I am managing editor of the Christian Union.

Cross-Examined by Mr. Fullerton.

I have resided in New York twenty-five years. Before that I was in Philadelphia, where I was connected with the Pennsylvania Freeman. Before that I resided in Columbus, Ohio, where I was employed on the Anti-Slavery Bugle. Before that I lived in Wooster county, Mass. In Boston I conducted the Liberator. I was lecturing again for the American Anti-Slavery Society, and traveled through Pennsylvania and other places, lecturing. I was born in Vermont, and lived there until I was twenty years old. I served at Montpelier at an apprenticeship to the printing business. I am now connected with the Christian Union. I call myself a Christian, and in some respects may advocate the sentiments of the Universalists. I believe that

All Human Beings Will be Saved.

I think that is the only item in their belief, and don't think this is the very essence of it. Perhaps I have believed this for ten or a dozen years. My religious views have been undergoing a change ever since I was a boy. This change is towards truth. I once edited the Christian Soldier at Boston. It was a paper whose views were against Universalist doctrines. I have never been a subscriber to any Universalist paper, nor have I written anything for them. I see them in our exchanges at the Christian Union office. I never wrote articles for the Christian Union advocating Universalist doctrines. Beecher examines the articles for the paper, and I write to contributors of that paper. I write articles for the paper, but never any that are inconsistent with my view. I expressed my opinions to Beecher, and he retained me afterwards in his service. I attended Congregational churches in Middlebury, Boston and Montpelier, Vt. I was also connected with the Progressive Society of Friends in Chester county, Pa. I was connected with the Society of Friends, and was with them for two years. The Progressive Society invited all persons

Working for the Good of Their Fellow Men to unite in the matter. I belong to this society now. I am not a member of Plymouth church, but attend it frequently. I have often taken communion there. I began to go there in 1853, and attended there regularly until 1859. When I began to take communion there I was editor of he Anti-Slavery Standard in New York. I ceased to be editor of that paper in 1865. I do not recollect the first time I took communion there. I went on the Independent in the spring of 1865, and was there until 1870. I then went on the Christian Union.

A recess was here taken.

How a Spiritualist Answered a Question.

After the recess Mr. Johnson's cross-examination was proceeded with, as follows: I will answer the question if I am a Spiritualist in the way a friend of mine did. When I asked him he said, "I am a Spiritualist, but not a d——d fool." I believe I can receive communications from dear friends in the other world, and have had messages from them, but not very frequently. I cannot say if I wrote any articles on Spiritualism at any time. I am now connected with Mr. Frothingham's church in New York. I am not an officer of his church now, but was formerly a trustee. Mrs. Tilton never charged me with leading her husband into infidelity. I drew up my contract with the Christian Union, and Tilton did not propose the draft of it. Tilton and Moulton did not fix my salary on that paper. Tilton drew up a contract, which he gave me. I may have looked over it and incorporated a few ideas out of it into mine. I do not know that Tilton had an agency in my obtaining my place on the Christian Union.

Re-direct Examination.

I had a conversation with Tilton after his presiding at the Steinway Hall meeting. We were lunching together. I remonstrated very strongly with him for presiding at the meeting with such a woman.

What Isabella S. Oakley Knows.

Mr. Tracey next called Isabella S. Oakley, who testified: I reside in Brooklyn, and am engaged in teaching. I have known Mr. and Mrs. Tilton since they were married. I think about a year before I was an inmate of the same house. I think Florence was about eighteen months old then. I afterwards spent a summer with them at Keyport, at Cornwall, and at various times, for a week or two perhaps, at their house in Livingston street. I visited them frequently during the first year they lived there. After 1867 I discontinued my visits, except once a week or a fortnight, when Mr. Tilton was absent. I heard Mr. Tilton once rebuke his children, and say he hoped they would not speak such as their mother did. After the year 1866 I noticed a change in the visitors at the house, and met people there whom I did not care to meet. I met Miss Anthony, Miss Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Stephen Pearl Andrews there. I also heard Mr. Tilton say that he no longer held such views on the marriage relation as he formerly did. Miss Anthony, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Tilton and the children were present when he said this. It appeared to grieve Mrs. Tilton, and brought tears to her eyes. I think Mrs. Tilton got up from the table and left the room, but I am not sure. I also noticed between 1860 and 1870—a change which I considered to be non-orthodox, and I heard him say that he had no longer the accepted view of the atonement.

A Gradual Change in Tilton's Religious Views

Cross-examined by Mr. Fullerton. After 1867 I visited the house about once a week or once a fortnight. In the fall of 1872 I first knew of the scandal after the Woodhull publication. I took an interest in it, but was not excited over it. I wrote a letter to Florence Tilton, telling her I thought she would be a witness in the case. I heard this from a conversation which occurred between Mrs. Morse and Miss Moore. I think it is possible I have talked with Mrs. Ovington on the subject. I think I spoke to Mrs. Tilton about it. I was not directed to communicate with Florence Tilton on the subject. I sent a letter by post to her after finding the address of the school she was at. I had no fear when I wrote the letter to Florence that her testimony would hurt her mother in the slightest degree, at least not to my knowledge. I had apprehensions for reasons of my own.

The witness, after being further pressed for an answer as to her motive for writing the letter, replied: I was afraid that if she was called on the other side she might say something.

The witness continued: The object I had in writing this letter was to prevent her being a witness on either side. I could not say if I feared that Florence was to be called as a witness for the defendant.

The witness was handed the letter in question, which she identified, and continued: I did not show this letter to any person before sending it, nor had any conversation with any person about it.

Mr. Fullerton read the letter, which began by sympathizing with

The Trials of Florence's School Life,

and expressed friendship for her on account of her mother. "Her soul is bound up more than ever," said the letter, "in her children—more than if she were a widow. You should stand by your mother now with loyalty in her extremity. Let no one compromise you to act against your mother. I cannot say anything about your father, for I am abhorred with his conduct."

The letter was signed "Isabella S. Oakley."

The witness then resumed: After writing the letter I told Mrs. Tilton about it. When Mr. Tilton reproved Mrs. Tilton's bad English to the children I do not remember what she had said. She may have used bad English, but I was not paying any attention to what she said. I do not remember when I saw Miss Anthony at Tilton's house. I think I saw her first between the years 1866 and 1867. I believe she was and was opposed to all that party. I was not present at Mrs. Tilton's house when meetings of these people took place. I do know that she was dragged into this movement. I attach no particular meaning to the word "dragged" which I used. I do not know that Mrs. Tilton first caused Mr. Tilton to enter into this movement. I saw Mrs. Stanton in 1866. She was partly a woman suffragist. I cannot tell when I saw Stephen Pearl Andrews, and cannot recollect if I saw him there.

The witness here corrected herself, and said: I have a general impression of having seen him there once, but cannot remember at what time. I do not know if Miss Anthony, Mrs. Stanton or Stephen Pearl Andrews visited Mrs. Tilton prior to 1866.

The Court then adjourned.

ADNAH NEYHART.

Death of an Oil Prince.

The Record of a Busy Life—The Success of an Honorable Business Man—How a Fortune was Made—The Obsequies—Tribute to the Dead—Honors to the Memory of a Worthy Man.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

TIDIOUTE, March, 6, 1875.

A Busy Life.

To-day was performed the last sad duty of conveying to their final resting place, the remains of the late lamented Adnah Neyhart, who will long be missed by this community. Mr. Neyhart came to Tidioute in 1865, after having, by unfortunate investments in different parts of the oil regions, lost his all. But being a business man in the fullest sense of the word, sagacious, enterprising and self-reliant, he soon laid the foundation for a large fortune. He associated himself with Mr. Joshua Pierce, of Philadelphia, as a producer, these two gentlemen composing the firm of Pierce & Neyhart, so well known throughout the petroleum trade. Building a number of large iron tanks to store their own production during the low prices of 1866, at which time they owned a number of large wells, they afterwards gave up operating and confined themselves wholly to the shipping business, Mr. Neyhart remaining in the oil regions while Mr. Pierce attended to the business of the firm in the East. About five years ago this firm was dissolved, after which time Mr. Neyhart carried on the business alone, and also became one of the largest and most successful producers in the country. But close application to business finally undermined his health, compelling him, for the past two years, to abandon all personal attention to his oil business, though I believe he directed, by letter and telegraph, from California, where he had been residing with his family for a year or more, all important movements. Although he went to California in order to get away from work on account of his shattered health, yet his enterprising spirit would not allow him to be idle, for we soon find him engaged in gold mining, having purchased a mine, set up machinery, &c., and was meeting with his usual success when stricken down by death. He died at San Diego, California, February 17, 1875, a few hours before his brother-in-law, Mr. E. B. Grandin, who was on his way to join him, reached that place. His body arrived here yesterday morning and the funeral, which was very large, there being present four to five hundred persons, as before mentioned, took place to-day at noon from the residence of J. L. Grandin, the Masonic fraternity, of which Mr. Neyhart was a worthy member, having charge of it. The religious services were conducted by the Rev. Theodore Crowl, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this place. As but a few, comparatively, of the great number present could get into the house to hear the remarks of the Reverend gentleman it is the wish of many to see them in print. I therefore enclose a copy. F. B.

The Funeral Oration.

Mr. Crowl spoke as follows:

Shakespeare makes Anthony say in his oration over the dead body of Cæsar:

"I come to bury Cæsar,
Not to praise him."

So we have come to-day to bury the body of Adnah Neyhart, not to praise him. Had we come to praise him, the shades of evening would overtake us ere we could tell all his manly qualities and generous deeds.

Rarely, indeed, does a man who has been involved in such extensive and complicated business arrangements as was Adnah Neyhart, go down to the grave with a reputation untarnished by any breath of suspicion or blame. Often, therefore, the best that charity can do is to permit both the evil and the good that men have done to be interred with their bones.

But here there is no ban upon our lips from suspicion or distrust. No spectral forms of dishonest dealings, or fraudulent schemes, or deeds of darkness, come, gliding out of the past, bidding us be silent over the dead. But there come the voices of partners, and associates, and neighbors, from the East and from the West, from the coast of the Atlantic and from the shores of the Pacific, meeting with the voices of friends and neighbors here at home, in commending this man's honor, and integrity, and generosity.

Beginning his business life with no capital, save his own industrious hands and vigorous mind, he achieved a worldly success that crowns the labors of but few of earth's toilers, and honestly did he earn his treasures.

There was no burden of ill gotten gains to crush his spirit, as it prepared to go out into the presence of life's record gone before.

Let it be put upon record here, for the friends and neighbors who are seeking the good things of earth.

What folly to barter integrity, conscience and the soul, expecting thereby to gain the world. Is this the bargain that must be made to achieve success in the world? Many seem to think so. What a delusion!

There is a better way still. Conscience is the only safe guide in business, and honesty is the better policy.

The man who gathers gold by dishonesty, will find the pile crushing his heart at last, and the ill gotton gains will blast his posterity.

This, however, is not the time nor place for a lecture on business morals, and I know not if there are any here who have yet to learn that the foundations of all true success are built upon the eternal principles of justice, purity and truth.

And why should I multiply words in telling of the virtues and good deeds of the deceased. No words are needed as monuments to his memory. In the hearts of his friends is the photograph of his face, and his character and his life. It seems but a mere form for me, who never have seen him, save in the picture of clay, to talk of him before these friends—before sister and near relatives and companions. They need no words of mine to commend him.

And now to recite his past achievements, when he himself is gone, would seem but a mockery of grief.

Now they all lie with the flower wreaths upon his coffin—not to lie buried with him, it is true, but to be taken up again, and to be hung upon memory's walls, in remembrance of him. It is not to the wreath now that you look, saying "how beautiful, how fragant."

You cannot take these flowers from the coffin now to examine and admire them.

It is of the brother and the friend now you are thinking. You dear bereaved friends, now think of him in his place in your hearts and homes. It is not of Adnah Neyhart, the man of business, esteemed and trusted in business circles, and crowned with success, that you are thinking, but of Adnah, your brother and friend, torn from you by the hand of death.

The laurels that were upon his brow are to you now but like these wreaths on the coffin—they are cast down as badges of death; they serve as decorations and perfumes to the coffin and shroud. They are to be left here on earth, it is true, for—

"What may we take into the vast forever?
That marble door
Admits no fruit of all our long endeavor—
No fame wreathed crown we wore—
No garnered lore."

But they are powerless to comfort, though left as an heritage to friends.

The very success that Mr. Neyhart achieved, his extensive business relations, and the trust that was reposed in him, makes his taking away more paralyzing in its effects. He is taken away in the midst of his days, it seems, in the middle of his achievements, suddenly, while still the tower of strength in his family, and a center of power in the world of business. His decease is like the uprooting of a mighty tree of the forest, tearing up the ground and falling with a crash that shakes the earth far around.

But thus it happens often, strange as it seems. God is no respecter of persons. It matters not how firmly we may be rooted in our places here, when the time of our sojourning is ended we are carried away as with a flood. It matters not how many of our plans are unfulfilled, we must leave them as they are. It matters not how many golden threads of affection are woven into our hearts, they must be broken. "The Son of Man cometh in an hour which ye know not."

After all, my friends, why should we think it so strange, or so sad, that we must bid the last farewell to friends gone in the midst of their days? When we consider what we are, and whither we are journeying; when we remember that death is but the crossing over the stream that bounds time into the eternity that is boundless, what are a few more years here on this side? They quickly pass and are as nothing; whether they be years of joy or sorrow, they are nothing when measured by the eternal existence beyond. Let men gather what treasures of earth they may, they gather them to leave them behind. They can count only, as of real worth, the comfort and hope they derive for themselves and loved ones from their treasures as the years whirl past; and the comfort and hope thus afforded are insignificant when compared with the comfort and hope derived from the inheritance which is incorruptible and undefiled, and which fadeth not away.

Yet, philosophize as we may, we cannot break the spell of grief that falls, nor check the tears that flow; nor are we required to do so. "Jesus wept with his sisters over their brothers grave."

Grief and tears have been allotted to the children of earth, and they may as well come at the side of the grave as anywhere else. It seems hard that the wife thus should be severed from the husband, and that children thus should be left without a father.

Here are the ties, the sundering of which seems most unnatural and most mysterious. "By the laws of nature and of God, it is ordained that husband and wife shall be as one, walking hand in hand down toward the end of life's journey, leading their children with them." It seems like the breaking of a divine harmony, like the destroying of Heaven's order, when in the midst of this harmony of lives the one is taken—husband or wife—and the other left, and the little children left without a father or without a mother. Ah, we must wait for the radiance of eternity to be thrown back upon these perplexing problems of life on earth. We see that the end is not here. These are but scenes on the stage of endless life. The curtain falls, but there are scenes to follow. The vanity of life's great drama does not appear now, but by and by, as scene follows scene it will appear.

And so we wait, saying, this is not the end. Conscious of our own inability to solve the problems that crowd upon us, trustingly we look up to the Father above, and leave all with Him who doeth all things well; and in Him who hath loved us and hath given Himself for us, let us seek our hope and our consolation.

"And may you learn to read this life aright;
Now to your souls may the sweet grace be given,
To make this disappointment and this blight
A ladder round, to lift you nearer Heaven."

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

STONE quarrymen in Berks county are paid $1.05 per day.

THE Schuylkill Copper Works, at Phœnixville, made 25,000 pounds of ingot copper during January.

THE expenses of the Danville Water Works for the past year were $6,075.11, and the office expenses $604.45. The greater part of the former would be saved by a natural flow.

ON Friday night, at the Bethlehem Iron Works, Mr. Wm. Stubblebine, foreman, turned out nineteen and one-half tons of finished iron, besides changing rolls, in the space of nine hours, the actual working time being six hours.

THE Columbia and Port Deposit railroad is in process of construction. A large number of rails have arrived at Columbia ready for laying as soon as the weather permits. By October next the road will be completed and the cars running.

THE puddlers of the Pottstown Iron Company turned out on a strike in consequence of a reduction in wages from $4.50 to $4.25 per ton, which compelled them to reduce the pay of their helpers. The number of men out is over one hundred. Of about 450 men employed by the company, only those at the boiler-mill rolls, at the furnace, and a few others, some eighty or ninety in all, are at work. The company's officers, we understand, claim that the reduction is only to the price paid at Phœnixville, Bethlehem, and other places.

WEST VIRGINIA ITEMS.

THE Legislature appropriated $30,000 to the owners of the State House, at Charleston, for the use of their building by the State.

CHARLESTON experienced the largest freshet since 1861, last week. Fully one fourth of the town was under water. Families occupied the second stories of their houses, while many had to desert their homes entirely. The legislators got out of the way in the nick of time.

MRS. KIMMONS, of Ohio county, West Virginia, whose husband died a few days since, is eighty-four years of age, and up to the time of the death of the old gentleman, performed all the work pertaining to her house. She has been married 61 years, has 5 children living, 26 grand children, and 25 great grand children.

THE Methodists predominate in Pennsylvania, with the Presbyterian, Episcopalians and Catholics close in the rear in the order named.

A False Report Contradicted.

BERLIN, March 10.—There is no foundation for the report in the Tagsblatt that France intended to concentrate troops in the eastern departments experimentally, and Germany threatened to mobilize two army corps on the Rhone if she persisted.

RUSSIA.

A False Report.

LONDON, March 11—5:30 A. M.—The report that Prince Gortschakoff had requested the recall of Wm. Schuyler, United States Charge d' Affaires at St. Petersburg, is untrue.

The Revenue Question.

NEW YORK, March 10, 1875.

At a meeting of the New York Board of Trade to-day, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: That the tariff laws should be framed with a view of raising the necessary revenue from the least possible number of articles; that as far as possible from articles that are not manufactured or produced in the United States, and that no duties should be imposed on raw materials which enter largely into manufactures, that all duties should be specific, without regard to value and classifications, simple and distinct.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Civil Service Rules Abolished.

Decrease in Outstanding Legal Tenders.

WASHINGTON, March 10, 1875.

Civil Service Rules Abolished.

The Departments have issued circulars announcing the abolition of the Civil Service Reform rules governing their respective departments, wherever operative, and announcing the return to the former method of appointing employes as provided for by sections one and sixty-four, Revised Statutes, enacted June 22, 1874, which is that no clerk shall be appointed to any department in either of the four classes until he has been examined and found qualified by a board of three examiners, to consist of the Chief of the Bureau or office into which such clerk is to be appointed, and two other clerks to be selected by the head of the department. All sub-boards of the Civil Service Reform throughout the country are abolished by these orders.

The Pinchback Case.

In the Senate, to-day, immediately after the reading of the journal, consideration of the resolution for the admission of Pinchback was resumed, and Mr. Merrimon continued his argument in opposition.

Mr. Merrimon concluded his argument at 2 o'clock, when Mr. McCreery, of Kentucky, obtained the floor, but yielded for an executive session. The doors were soon reopened, and the Senate adjourned.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: Postmasters—A. M. Patterson, at Crestline, Ohio; J. S. Hull, New Philadelphia, O.; Thos. Hammond, McConnellsville, O; V. B. Smith, Middleport, O.; Mrs. M. F. Low, Xenia, O.; James Mulleneaux, Gallipolis, O.; and A. S. McClure, Wooster, O.

Jasper M. Johnson is appointed Internal Revenue Storekeeper for the Third District of Ohio.

Hunting for Office.

A large number of Senators and ex-members of the House and members-elect visited the Executive Mansion, some to pay their respects, but a large number on business. Several ex-members wanted the President to provide them with office, but they received little or no encouragement. Only a few more nominations will be sent to the Senate, and were it not for the Pinchback question, the Senate could adjourn within a week.

The Treasury Balances.

The Treasury balances to-morrow will show a decrease in the outstanding legal tenders of $1,285,100, an order for cancelling that amount having been sent to the United States Treasury to-day. This will exhibit the outstanding legal tenders at $380,714,900. Other reductions will be made as soon as the National bank notes are issued.

OLITICAL.

A Convention to Organize an Independent, or Greenback Party, to Meet in Cleveland To-day.

CLEVELAND, March 10.—A convention to organize an Independent, or Greenback political party, will meet at Hollis Hall, this city, to-morrow. Quite a number of delegates, principally from the West, have arrived, and many are expected to-night and to-morrow. A conference of delegates, including several prominent Labor Union leaders and greenback agitators, was held at Industrial Hall this evening, the nature or result of which has not been ascertained. Preparations for the convention have been made under the immediate auspices of the Working Men's Association, and the movement seems to be particularly in the interest of the laboring class.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—The Gazette's Rushville (Indiana) special says a boiler in Nelson & Shorlridge's saw mill, six miles north of that place, exploded this morning with terrific violence, killing Alfred Joyce, engineer, and Oscar Hinckleman, a boy twelve years old, and injuring severely J. Hinckleman, Jerry Widener and George Kimball. The boiler was blown into a number of pieces and in all directions. The mill was not running at the time. Nelson was filing the saw, when the engineer a boy eighteen years old, told him to hurry, as the steam was getting high. The explosion followed almost immediately, blowing the engineer about sixty feet away, but only slightly injuring Nelson.

Speeches were made by Mr. F. R. Brunot, of Pittsburgh, and J. R. W. Sloan, of Allegheny City.

ALBANY, March 10.—At a meeting of the Canal Board, to-day, a committee consisting of Comptroller Hopkins, Auditor Thayer and State Engineer Sweet, submitted a report in favor of reducing the tolls, as follows: On grain, 33 1-3 per cent.; on lumber, 30 per cent.; on merchandise going from tidewater, 50 per cent. The report was laid on the table, to be printed.

STATE BREVITIES.

CORRY, PA., wants a glass factory.

SCARLET FEVER prevails at Doylestown.

THE debt of Cameron county is estimated to be $8,000.

CRAWFORD COUNTY has failed to pay the interest on its bonds.

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY paid $343 for tobacco for the prisoners last year.

THERE is only one whisky distillery in Cambria county. Somerset has several within her borders.

JEFFERSON COUNTY sustained a loss of over $300,000 by fire in 1874, upon which there was an insurance paid of over $100,000.

A WOMAN in Union county celebrated her one hundred and ninth birthday last Wednesday, by dancing with her grandson.

HUNTINGTON county has eleven Odd Fellows Lodges, and 738 members. There are nearly 100,000 Odd Fellows in this State.

UPWARDS of 35,000 vagrants were fed and lodged at the Berks county alms-house and at the City Hall in Reading during last year.

THE execution of Birney McCue, at Williamsport, has been postponed from the 17th to the 20th of March, on account of a grand parade, which is anticipated on St. Patrick's day.

JAMES H. GRIER, a member of the Schuylkill county bar, has been sentenced to pay a fine of $7,500 and be imprisoned nine month, for embezzling the funds of an insurance company while its Secretary and Treasurer.

THE farmers of Erie county have been swindled lately of amounts varying from $25 to $100. The modus operandi is as follows: A peddler visits a farmer and succeeds in selling him a job lot of cloths at a bargain, throwing in a table cloth or a shawl as an extra indecement. The peddler is accommodating and does not require cash down, but takes the farmer's note for the amount, which he manipulates to suit his own views afterwards. As such cases are constantly occurring it is wiser for farmers to buy goods in the town of merchants whom they know to be reliable.

THERE is every indication that the Free Pipe bill will pass the House, at Harrisburg.

THE rumor is again current that Secretary Fish is to succeed Minister Schenck at the Court of St. James. The Secretary would make a dignified and excellent Minister, and some one else would probably prove as efficient in the office of Secretary of State.

WHAT struggles and heart-burning are sometimes inspired by the desire to possess empty honors! The Presidency pro tem. of the Senate is merely a position of honor. It carries with it no power, influence, or consideration. Yet two dignified United States Senators struggled over the bare bone till at last a decision was reached by one majority for the successful contestant. Thus it goes.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM is dead. It lived a doubtful and precarious life, and was at all times a puny and uncertain infant. Several of its wet nurses gave out, notably George William Curtis, Joseph Medill and one or two others, and others were supplied. Still it struggled on, was sickly, disagreeable and unpopular, and at last Congress withdrew sustenance and the poor thing died. May it rest in peace.

IN ANOTHER coloumn of this issue will be found a brief biographical sketch, and also the funeral address delivered at the funeral, on the 6th inst., of Mr. Adnah Neyhart, of Tidioute, Warren county, Pa. Mr. N. had advanced from obscurity to a high social position and to distinguished commercial standing with an unsullied reputation for enterprise and probity that extended quite across the continent. The death at mid-life of a man, so energetic, enterprising and so liberal, humane and just, always seems untimely, and is felt as a public calamity.

THE stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad held their annual meeting at Philadelphia yesterday. There was a large attendance, and, as usual in such cases, there were malcontents, who desired to criticise the management, without really knowing how to do it. The Pennsylvania Railroad, under its present management, is one of the most ably conducted railroads in the country. The usual result of the disturbers' efforts is, to be voted down, and the general policy of the Company is generally sustained. In all the history of the Company better nett results have never been shown than during the past year.

IT is getting something of a question whether Tilton or Beecher is on trial in the Brooklyn Court. The Winsted affair, which concerns the moral quality of Tilton's conduct, has been developed ad nauseum. The immediate purpose of evidence on this point is, of course, to break the credibility of Tilton's testimony; but when this has been accomplished, if nothing else is aimed at, why not stop? Yet witness after witness has been placed on the stand, with the evident purpose of showing that Tilton was far more intimate with the young lady who accompanied him than was at all proper. Thus in reality Tilton is on trial as well as Beecher.

THE Post imagines that things wonderful and dire were resorted to by the administration to carry the New Hampshire election. Not that it was particularly worth carrying by itself, but that it might be used as an endorsement of the Southern policy of the President. As the President finds no occasion to have his Southern policy endorsed,—Louisiana being in process of pacification, and Arkansas given over to the Bourbons, we ask why he should struggle so mightily for so small a favor. Is not the reasoning of the Post rather thin—not to put a fine point on it? One would suppose, looking at the subject from its standpoint, that the Democrats would be only too glad to endorse him, whereas they worked for success and were beaten.

THE action of the Democratic majority in the House, in refusing to so arrange the finances of the State as to admit of enough for current expenses, will prove a greater misfortune to that party than to any one else. The Constitution of the State provides that $250,000 shall go into the Sinking Fund annually; but the law of 1874 sets apart for that fund taxes to the amount of $1,200,000 annually. This law the Democracy refuse to so amend as that enough of the amount may go into the general revenue fund to meet the current expenses of the State. The reduction of taxation does not permit of enough to come into the State Treasury from this source to meet the general revenue demands. Of course, the idea of the Democracy is that for the State to dishonor its obligations while it is in Republican hands will operate to their interest. The absurdity of this may be seen when it is stated that there is enough money raised yearly to meet all the demands, only it should be rightly directed. This is the duty of the Legislature, and this duty the Democratic House deliberately refuses to perform. There is no difficulty in locating this responsibility. We fancy this move will bring sorrow to the Democratic party, ere long.

THE NEW SPIRIT.

Now that Congress has adjourned, the Force bill failed, the Arkansas revolution acquiesced in, and partially justified, it is interesting to notice just how the South and the Democratic party regard the situation, and what they propose to do. It is yet early for any full expression, but intimations are given that show that the situation is not, at all events, misapprehended. In Texas, for example, revolvers and threats are fully used, and the declaration triumphantly made that the President cannot interfere with them, if they shoot negroes. The Richmond Inquirer, on the other hand, counsels quiet for two years, until the Democratic party is again in power. In Louisiana both parties seem to have wearied of the struggle, and an apparently honest effort at compromise is being made. Out of it all we gather that the Democratic masses, at the South, who have heretofore been troublesome, will be peculiarly hard to manage; that the leaders, who see the importance of order, as a means of party success, will strive to maintain order; and that all this looks to the acquisition of power, in order that it may be used to overthrow the results of the war, and restore the old relations, so far as this can possibly be done. Through all is an evident feeling on the part of the Democracy that the weak course of Congress contributed to their advantage, if they are prudent to avail themselves of it. Just here is their trouble. It implies the holding in check of ravening wolves, when the prey is in full sight; the control of an element at the South, that gnashes its teeth for revenge, and longs for the moment when its passion can have unstinted gratification. If the leaders can mould and control the element referred to, and compel it to follow the Machiavellian policy laid down they will show wonderful power, and fulfil one condition of very enlarged success. We do not, however, for a single moment, believe they can do this. Yet the fact that they are striving to do it, and are evidently using their entire power to prepare for the greatest contest they have made in a decade, should warn Republicans of what is before them. The easy walk-over that has characterized recent Presidential elections is not to be the feature of the next effort. It will find the Democracy organized, determined, and, to some extent, hopeful. This must be met by equally careful organization, and thorough preparation for the struggle. We see no occasion for fear or doubt,—but would impress the party that a more hopeful spirit possesses the Democracy, and that wisdom requires that we should buckle on the armor for a vigorous contest.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The Democratic "reaction" of last Fall, which, we were kindly informed, was to take the proportions of a "tidal wave," and go on swelling and increasing till it rolled the Presidency into their loving arms, does not seem to have come to much in New Hampshire. That State has been peculiarly fickle in its political adherence of late years, and neither party could depend upon it with any certainty whatever. For this reason it is peculiarly valuable as a testing place of popular sentiment. The elections of last Fall, and those of nearly every year, show that there is great similarity of public sentiment through the entire country on political questions. If a reaction sets in, favorable to one party or the other, it is apt to become general. Thus last year, despite the argument that local causes, here and there, affected the result, is the well known fact that the reaction was general, and represented a sentiment that was not confined to any one locality or State. So the result in New Hampshire is indicative of the general sentiment prevailing at this time through the entire country. There were no local issues sufficiently powerful in that State to swerve the people from an expression on the general issue before them.

The election embodied State and National issues,—a Governor and a full set of Congressmen being elected. Cheney is quite certainly elected Governer, although the vote is close. As the Democrats elected their candidate at the last gubernatorial election, this is a turn-over from Democratic to Republican hands. So the Republicans have elected three Congressmen, and have made a clean sweep of the Legislature. In brief, they have a triumphant victory in all parts of the State.

There is no possibility of explaining away or neutralizing these important facts. They show that the people have already penetrated the designs of the Democracy, and have turned back with alarm from any further aid to that party. They see that after all has been said, the Democracy still follow their old instinct, and adhere to their old, proscriptive ideas. On the other hand, with all the faults developed by individual Republicans in Congress and elsewhere, it is seen that the Republican party, as such, is faithful to the interests of the people. This is the great truth that will stand out, with increasing prominence, as time elapses, if the Republican party is true to itself. It holds in its grasp the next Presidency, if faithful to its own fundamental principles.

WHAT WAS DONE.

We gave, a few days since, the titles of such bills as passed Congress at its late session. It is worthy of careful preservation, for purposes of reference. As a brief and more easily comprehended statement of what was done, however, we may say that a total of 301 acts passed,—of which eight were joint resolutions, 165 were private and 128 public acts. Among the latter, the most important were: 1. The fixing of a date for the resumption of specie payment. 2. The "Little Tariff" bill, nominally correcting certain phraseology, but really increasing the tariff. 3. The Tax bill, increasing the whisky tax 20 cents per gallon, and adding to the tariff on sugar 25 per cent., and 10 per cent to the whole line of manufactured goods. 4. The Civil Rights bill. 5. Enabling Colorado to come into the Union in 1877. 6. The River and Harbor bill, covering $6,600,000. 7. The regular Appropriation bills, including appropriations for the army, navy, fortifications; Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Departments; Sundry Civil Service; Consular and Diplomatic Service; Post-Office; Military Academy, claims, and deficiencies. Among the bills second in importance to these were the following: The act enabling the Postoffice to carry into effect the law for the prepayment of postage on newspapers; an act providing for the authentication of the revised statutes and the preservation of the original of all laws; an act removing all limitations of circulation for banks issuing notes payable in gold; an act carrying into effect the repeal of the moiety system; an act providing for the payment of interest on the District of Columbia 3.65 bonds; an act facilitating the disposition of cases in the Supreme Court; acts fixing the character of the District Government and several Indian and land acts. The Soldiers' Bounty bill, over which so much interest was manifested, failed to legally become a law.

There were not, so far as is now known any bills passed of a distinctly jobbing character. Probably the worst thing, in its outcome, was the Pacific Mail investigation. Not that such investigations are intrinsically improper, but that this was used, and with it Congress, to favor the purposes of one of the worst jobbing operations known for years. The outcome is the forming of a trans-continental monopoly, the worst the country has ever known. Jay Gould is not usually accepted as a model of virtuous dealing, yet Congress was as perfectly in his service as though he had charmed it, and wielded it at will. We regret this blighting result more than anything else that occurred during the entire session of Congress. Had aid been given the other trans-continental lines, or had guards been thrown around those we have, there would have been a show of independence, but as it is there was none. It was to the interest of the combination that Pacific Mail should be broken down, that Colonel Scott's Texas Pacific should not be aided, and that a spirit favorable to the existing roads should be manifested. Congress registered, faithfully and slavishly, all the wishes of the Jay Gould clique, and responded, with lackey-like faithfulness, to the virtuous demands of the New York press. The West ought to speak on this subject with no uncertain voice.

SERIOUS reports have been in circulation recently concerning the bodily and mental condition of ex-Senator Nye, of Nevada. It has been learned from a trustworthy source that he is slowly convalescing, and that there is the most encouraging prospect of entire recovery from the nervous prostration from which Mr. Nye has been suffering for many months. The inclemency of the weather has kept him within doors since his return from the South, and has so greatly retarded his improvement that it has been necessary to give him the benefit of a change of scene. He has been removed, accordingly, to the residence of a friend in the country. His physician reported his condition a few days since as most favorable to a complete recovery.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

RUMORS of a contemplated coup de etat by the Bonapartists causes some uneasiness in Paris.

IN England they "compound felonies" also. The Earl of Dudley has paid the thieves who stole his wife's jewels $40,000 and recovered the jewels.

THE fishing season of 1875 has commenced on the Potomac, and that river will witness lively scenes in the next few weeks. By the twenty-fifth, the fisheries will be in full activity.

IT is stated that a party of United States Senators, including Senator Cameron, intend going to Mexico shortly, partly for pleasure, and partly to inspect the silver mines of Sonora and Chihuahua, and look after railroad interests.

AT the meeting of the Union Pacific Railroad Company in Boston, resolutions were adopted authorizing the Directors to pay from the surplus earnings a dividend at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable quarterly, beginning July 1st, 1875.

A DIFFICULTY occurred at Marshall, Mo., last Saturday, between Thomas Doak and J. T. Waddell, in which Doak fired several shots at Waddell, missing him, but mortally wounding John Morrison and a young boy, name not given. Doak has been arrested.

THE State of Nebraska offers for negotiation $50,000 of bonds, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the purchase of seed grain for destitute settlers in the grasshopper regions. The bonds are payable in ten years, and bear 10 per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in New York.

JOHN MITCHEL, who took part in an Irish riot some twenty years ago, cannot take a seat in Parliament yet, and the House of Commons did not hesitate half an hour about rejecting him. As he fought in the rebellion against this country, he is sure of a seat in our House if he will only come back to Virginia and run for Congress.—Phila. Press.

LADY BURDETT-COUTTS makes an appeal for the humming-birds. The sacrifice of these brilliant creatures to woman's love of ornaments is, my lady says, a needless cruelty. Besides, as a concession to naturalists, the slaughter should be stopped. One English house last year received 40,000 birds; at this rate, the extermination of the species is a mere question of time.

A BILL to satisfy the extreme temperance element of the State has just passed the Indiana Senate by a vote of 29 to 18. Under its provisions a prohibition license fee of $2,500 annually is established. During debate on the bill statistics presented showed that the working of the Baxter Temperance law had caused a loss to the State of $116,000 during the last two years.

A DESPERADO named Hall took a negro into a saloon at Waverly, Mo., kept by a man named Boal, and attempted to place him on an equality with the white men under the Civil Rights bill. The barkeeper protested. Hall insisted. The barkeeper then chased the negro out of the saloon with a revolver. Another negro, named Bell, then interfered, and the barkeeper shot him dead.

CHAS. L. LAWRENCE, one of the alleged principals in the lately dispersed gang of silk smugglers, at New York, has been arrested in Queenstown, Ireland. Lawrence Lafayette Graff, his partner, Gustave, Bell & Co., Robert Desanges, Deputy Collector of Port, are jointly indicted in the United States Courts for smuggling by evading payment of duties on imported silks, entering them, through the connivance of customs officials, as hosiery.

THERE is an unusual scarcity of oysters in the New York market, just now, owing to the fact that the oyster-beds of Long Island and Connecticut cannot be reached, because of the vast fields of ice by which they are blockaded, and also to the fact that a fleet of some fifteen schooners from Virginia, with consignments for that port, have been detained by adverse winds. Prices have gone up from 50 cents per 100 to $2; but the scarcity, of course, is only temporary.

MR. W. V. MCKEAN, of the Philadelphia Ledger, Christian K. Ross, and Detective Jones visited New York on Saturday and saw several children in out-of-the-way places, who were said to bear a strong resemblance to Charlie Ross. None of them were found to be at all like the missing boy. Superintendent Walling, Central Detective Selleck, and Detective Jones were engaged on the case last evening, but no intimation as to what they contemplated doing was obtainable.—N. Y. World.

WHILE speaking of the bill lately passed by Congress enabling Colorado to form a State Government and come into the Union, it may be well to recollect that a similar opportunity was granted in 1864, and the people refused to accept it. The next year a provisional Constitution was adopted, a State Government and United States Senators elected, and all things got in readiness for the bill which it was confidently expected would pass Congress and be approved by the President. But Andrew Johnson stepped in with one of his famous vetoes, and Colorado has been knocking for admission ever since.

ALFONSO AND MONTPENSIER.

A Brief Sketch of the Duke.

The rumored intention of King Alfonso to resign and the probable election of Duke de Montpensier to the Spanish throne may make a brief sketch of the latter of interest at this time.

The citizen Antoine Marie Philippe Louis d'Orleans, Duke de Montpensier, who is spoken of in the despatches by cable, as the probable successor of King Alfonso XII. on the throne of Spain, should his majesty abdicate the Madrid sovereignty, is the fifth son of the late Louis Philippe, King of the French. He was born on the 31st of July, in the year 1824, and entered the French army on the 29th of April, 1842. He served during the campaign in Africa in 1843-'44. On the 10th of October, 1845, he was married to the Princess Maria Louisa, sister of Isabella the Second (Alfonso's mother) Queen of Spain. The husband and wife were expelled from the Spanish territory on the 6th of July, 1868. The Duke de Montpensier has had a party of political adherents in Spain ever since. He was proposed as King of the Spaniards by Admiral Topete and other lovers of governmental change. The proposition was finally opposed by Prim and the members of his party in the year 1869 and has ever since remained distasteful to all the "blue blood" Spaniards.

Should King Alfonso abdicate the throne of Spain he will merely follow illustrious precedent in the voluntary relinquishment of kingly power in Madrid. He will be the sixth monarch who laid down the Spanish sceptre. They count in the following order:—Charles I. abdicated in the year 1555, Philip V. in 1724, Charles IV. in 1801, Isabella II. in 1870, Amadeus of Savoy in 1873, Alfonso XII. in 1875.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN POSTAGE.

The Rates on Third-Class Matter Doubled.

By an amendment inserted in the "Sundry Civil" Appropriation bill just before Congress adjourned, the postage on all mailable matter, included in what is known as the "third-class," was fixed at one cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce, instead of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, which has been the rate hitherto.

The new law has already gone into effect, before the public generally has been informed of it, and the consequence is that great quantities of third-class matter are sent to the postoffices with insufficient postage on them. Among these are quantities of transient newspapers, magazines, etc., the postage on which is doubled under the new law. Below we give a list of mailable matter of the third-class:

All pamphlets, occasional publications, transient newspapers, magazines, handbills, posters, unsealed circulars, prospectuses, books, book-manuscripts, proof-sheets, corrected proof-sheets, maps, prints, engravings, blanks, flexible patterns, samples of merchandise not exceeding twelve ounces in weight, sample cards, phonographic paper, letter envelopes, postal envelopes and wrappers, cards, plain and ornamental paper, photographic representations of different types, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, and other matter which may be declared mailable by law.

INDIAN DEVILS.

Story of the Two Captured Girls Whose Parents were Murdered by Indians Last Fall.

The Cheyenne chief Stone Calf came into the Cheyenne Agency last Saturday with 1,600 of his warriors and surrendered to the United States forces at that point. The two captive German girls were brought along and given up to the authorities. The girls state that since their capture in November last they have been the mistresses of Stone Calf and Gray Beard, and the eldest one is enciente and half-erazed with grief and shame. They were both dressed in Indian Costume and tell terrible stories of the privatations and sufferings which they have endured. It will be remembered that at the time of their capture their parents, two brothers and a sister were massacred, and two other sisters taken into captivity. The captured sisters were recovered by General Miles' troops a couple of months ago, and sent to their relations in Georgia. The two now at the agency are aged respectively 17 and 11 years, and say they can identify the Indians who murdered the family. They are being tenderly cared for, but it is feared the older one will lose her mind. The surrendering of Stone Calf's outfit is the practical ending of the Indian disturbances on the Southwestern border.

ANTIDOTE TO CIVIL RIGHTS.

Bill Before the Virginia Legislature.

A bill has been introduced in the Virginia Legislature by Colonel Gilman, which provides that if any person shall enter or attempt to enter any inn, public conveyance on land or water, theatre, or other place of public amusement, for the purpose of injuring the business, or annoying or disturbing the owner, proprietor, or guests thereof, or who shall in a rude, angry, boisterous, or threatening manner demand other or different accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges than those offered or tendered by the agent of such owner or proprietor, or who shall in a rude, angry, threatening, or offensive manner insist on such accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges, after being informed by the person or persons on whom such demand is made that the accommodations, advantages, facilities or privileges asked for or demanded cannot be furnished because of insufficient room or insufficient provision, or because other or more guests or patrons cannot be properly or safely cared for or accommodated; or if any person shall demand or seek for such accommodations, facilities, advantages or privileges in any inn, theatre or other place of public amusement, for the purpose of inciting or causing any riot, breach of the peace or public disturbance; or if any person wickedly intending to secure gain to him or herself, or to secure loss to another, or cause, procure or incite vexatious litigation, shall make such demand or request, knowing or believing, or having reason to know or believe, that such inn, theatre or place of public amusement cannot accommodate other or more guests or patrons, or that his or her patronage is not desired by the proprietor or agent of such inn, theatre or place of amusement, shall, on conviction thereof, be confined in the county or corporation jail not exceeding —— months, and be fined not exceeding —— dollars, or both, at the discretion of the jury; and in all prosecutions under this section one-half of the fine shall go to the proprietor or owner of the inn, public conveyance, &c., against whom the annoyance, wrong or injury was done or attempted.

The bill further authorizes proprietors of public places of amusement to sell tickets to specified seats, and which tickets shall not be transferable if the words "not transferable" are written or printed thereon; and on presentation of any ticket so marked by any other than the person to whom the same was sold, the proprietor of such place or his authorized agent may, after tendering the price of such ticket, refuse the holder thereof admission; and any person holding a ticket so transferred who shall refuse to receive the price of such ticket when tendered, or who shall claim or demand the right of admission on such ticket after the same is refused, shall be deemed guilty of creating a public disturbance, and shall, on conviction, be fined not exceeding —— dollars; one-half of which shall go to the proprietor of the theatre or other place of amusement where the offence was committed.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY March 11, 1875.

A moderately active monetary demand characterized yesterday. In other departments of business there was also more movement, although the nearly impassable condition of the streets hinders the transaction of business. There is an undertone of confidence that our manufactories will start up soon. We cannot trace it to any reliable source, but it is evident that both manufacturers and puddlers are anxious to get to work. Attempts are being made again to compromise, but are not as yet successful. On the other hand, the puddlers are, in small squads, engaging in work. If they could realize how much the prosperity of our city needs the resumption of work in our mills the parties in interest would, if possible, harmonize differences, and again start work.

—The favorable balance of trade is doing its perfect work in bringing home the foreign debt. For a time the supposition was that the sending home of such large amounts of Government sixes was caused by the sale or exchange of these bonds for the new fives. Then it was supposed that it was done to obtain gold for Europe. But now large batches of the new fives are beginning to arrive from Europe, and also considerable amounts of railroad bonds have been returned from Germany. That England wants the gold there can be no doubt. That has been her unceasing want in all her commerce with us. Every feature in her commercial arrangements looks to that. It is a thing never lost sight of. Hence it is no new development now that she is drawing from us all she can. But it is a new feature that she cannot obtain our gold in exchange for merchandise, but must sent back home those gold bonds that she has been so long accumulating against us and drawing interest.

We have at last secured the vantage ground in commerce, and it behooves us to neglect nothing in our efforts to hold it. We regard the cancelling of a large part of the foreign debt as the necessary preliminary to the resumption of specie payments already provided for by act of Congress. For while that enormous debt of twelve hundred millions stood against us any portion of it could at any time be sent home to obtain gold for Europe, as is now being done. But in the nature of things, if we adhere to our present national policy, that process must exhaust itself. If the imports of merchandise revive the return of our bonds must decline. But if the enormous increase of our exports prevents this the reduction of the foreign debt carries with it a consequent diminution of the shipments of gold to pay interest.

—With the opening of spring we anticipate several favorable changes that will reduce the drain of gold and silver. First, there is a fair prospect of the revival of general trade, that will carry with it a reaction in the imports, so that Europe will not be called upon to settle such large balances. Second, the reflux of the emigrants will cease because the revival of trade will make work plenty, and because the advices of general stagnation in Europe will discourage emigration to the old homes. Third, as soon as resumption takes place in France the hoarding now going on there in preparation for it must cease, and with that the drain upon other countries to provide gold and silver for France must come to an end. And finally the great Centennial in 1876 must completely turn the tide of travel in this direction, and so counteract for a time the drain caused by our own absenteeism.

—We see it stated that an annual reduction of about 10 per cent. a year in the cost of collecting the revenue has been effected, as follows: $224,000 at New York, $100,000 at Boston, $85,000 at New Orleans, $53,000 at Philadelphia, $38,000 at Baltimore, $22,000 at Mobile, and $8,000 at Norfolk. At six other ports on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, including Charleston and Savannah, there has been a reduction of $700,000 at the custom houses so far reached. The greatest reduction was in the office at Mobile, the whole expense having been previous by $45,000. A further cutting down of expenses is contemplated in some of the offices named, and work will be extended at once to all custom houses where the rule can be applied. It is proposed to bring the cost of the customs establishment down to the basis of the reduced importations and revenues from customs.

—The proposition before the Legislature of this State, giving authority to the cities of the State to tax not exceeding one per cent. on premiums received by fire insurance companies incorporated by this State and doing business in its cities, for the support of the paid fire departments of those cities, has been defeated, much to the joy of the underwriters.

NEW YORK, March 10, 1875.

Money, after loaning at 7 per cent, closed at 3½@4; prime mercantile paper 5 to 7. Sterling was unsettled and lower at 479@480 for sixty days and 483½ for sight. The customs receipts were $205,000. Gold was strong at 115@115¼. The gold "squeeze" to-day was more successful than on any previous day. The borrowing rates were ⅛ to 1-32 per diem, the latter the closing rate. Loans in exceptional cases were made flat. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $109,000. The clearings were $58,000,000. Government bonds were firm. Railroad bonds were strong, with the Pacific issues and Northwest consolidated gold bonds as features. State bonds were neglected.

To-day has been a very important day in Wall street, with the public interest centered chiefly in the Stock Exchange. At the opening of business great buoyancy prevailed in the market for securities, and there was a further improvement in values. In the upward movement Union Pacific securities were the most prominent stock, rising to 48⅜, the first mortgage bonds to 97, the land grants to 100¼, and the sinking funds to 90½, these prices being in most instances the highest ever attained. This large advance in Union Pacific issues was caused by the annual report, the adoption of the same by the stockholders at Boston to-day, and harmony at the meeting. The adoption of the report carried with it the recommendation of the directors that an annual dividend of 6 per cent. be declared, payable quarterly, commencing July 1st. Telegrams from Boston state that 329,668 shares were voted at the election to-day, being 70,000 shares more than last year, and the largest vote ever polled. The vote was unanimous for the following ticket: Oliver Ames, Elisha Atkins, F. Gordon Dexter, Benjamin E. Bates, Oliver Ames 2d, Ezra H. Baker, Sidney Dillon, Jay Gould, Charles J. Osborne, Geo. S. Scott, Samuel M. Mills, Jas. D. Smith, Joseph Richardson, G. M. Dodge and John Sharp. The annual report shows that the gross earnings for the year ending December 31st, 1874, were $10,559,880.12, and the expenses, including taxes, $4,652,314.95, leaving a surplus of earnings of $5,907,565.17, equal to 7 per cent. on the stock and bonds of the company. The operating expenses were 44.05 per cent. of the gross earnings, against 48.46 per cent. last year.

After Union Pacific, Northwest common was next in point of interest, advancing to 46⅛, the highest price of the season. There seems to be quiet and steady buying of this stock, under the belief that the affairs of the company have improved considerably during the past year and are likely to undergo further improvement under the amendment to the Potter law. Western Union was prominent in dealings, and rose to 76⅜, under the declaration of a 2 per cent. quarterly dividend, payable April 15. St. Paul rose to 36⅜, Lake Shore to 74⅜, Rock Island to 105, Ohios to 27¼, Pacific Mail to 40⅞, and Wabash to 14⅞.

At intervals during the day the transactions were attended with great activity and excitement. In late afternoon dealings the activity subsided, and there was a general reaction from the highest point of the day under sales to realize the profits of the advance. The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 227,000 shares, of which 40,000 were Pacific Mail, 88,000 Western Union, 24,000 Northwest, 8,500 St. Paul, 8,700 Lake Shore, 6,000 Ohios, 6,000 Wabash, and 88 Union Pacific.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1875.

There is nothing new to be recorded in regard to the general merchandise markets; trade continues to drag, which may be attributed in part to the inclement condition of the weather, which always has a depressing effect upon out-door business, although at best, it has not been up to what it should be or usually is at this season of the year. An effort is being made to bring the iron lock-out to a speedy close, and it is earnestly hoped that it may be successful, as there will be no material or permanent improvement in our local trade until the mills are started up, and employment afforded to the hundreds, if not thousands, who are idle, and many of them have not the means to obtain the necessaries of life.

There was a very good attendance at the Chamber of Commerce to-day, and there was no scarcity of samples, but buyers, to use a common phrase, were few and far between. It was there reported that one of our grain dealers had or was about to suspend, caused by the inability of others to meet their obligations with him, and he, in consequence, is unable to meet his engagements. Following sales were reported:

1 car White Oats, free, 65.
1 car White Oats, free, 65½.
2 cars Timothy Hay, $21.
1 car Youghiogheny Cement on private terms.
150 India Sacks on private terms.

APPLES—In rather better supply, but prices are still maintained. Sales in a jobbing way at $2@2.50 per bbl. for common to fair, and $3@3.50 for prime to choice.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ℔ gal.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—3@3¼ ℔ lb.

BEANS—Quotable to the trade at $1,90 for mediums and $2 for navies.

BUTTER—Dealers all report trade dull, with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements, and prices are barely maintained; 25@28c for prime to choice rolls.

CHEESE—There is only a moderate jobbing trade, and the general tone of the market is not as strong as it has been; Ohio Goshen, 16½@17; New York do, 17@17½.

CRANBERRIES—$10@12 ℔ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Apples, 7@7½c for common to fair; and 8@8½ for prime to choice. Peaches quiet and unchanged; 9@9½c for halves. Blackberries, 9@10c.

EGGS—The arrivals continue to increase, and the market is easier in consequence; we reduce our quotations to 33@35. We observe that they have declined to 35c in New York and 23 in Chicago, and the decline here will doubtless be rapid, unless the weather should turn very cold again, which is improbable.

FLOUR—There is a firmer feeling, under the influence of a decided improvement at New York, but the demand here continues light, and prices remain unchanged; Spring wheat flours, $5.25@5.50 for Wisconsins, and 5.50@5.75 for Minnesotas; winters, $5.50@5.75 for red and $6@6.25 for amber and white. Rye Flour, $5.50@5.75.

GROCERIES—Our eastern advices continue to report Coffee steady and more active but unchanged. The stock in first hands on the 8th inst. was 167,199 bags, distributed as follows: New York, 76,930 bags; Galveston, 7,712; New Orleans, 23,063; Savannah, 2,000; Richmond, 2,603; Hampton Roads, 5,600; Baltimore, 49,031. A Rio dispatch under date of 6th inst. reports the receipts for the week at 60,000 bags; purchases same time for the United States, 45,000; stock, 200,000. Price, $.300; Exchange, 27d. Sugars, Molasses, Syrups, etc., quiet and unchanged.

The Oat market is less active and easier; quotable at 63½@64 for mixed and 65@65½c for white, free in elevator. PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1875.

Trade continues very dull, and while prices as compared with yesterday have undergone but little change, the general tone of the market is weak, and some operators predict a further shrinkage in the raw article. To-day's dispatches quoted United certificates at wells at $1,02½@1,05, and immediate shipment at $1,80@1,82½. The receipts on Tuesday were unusually large, 3,226 bbls. Refined continues quiet and unchanged; 13@13½c on cars here; 14⅛@14¼c in Philadelphia, and 14¼@15c in New York—sale of 4,000 bbls reported for March, New York delivery, at 15c.

Philadelphia Cattle Market.

The market for all descriptions of live stock was characterized by much activity to-day, and with a considerable falling off in the receipts and offerings, higher figures were realized all around. For beef cattle the inquiry was particularly urgent, both on local and New York account, and with a supply not exceeding sixteen hundred head, holders succeeded in establishing an advance of fully ⅜ to ½ a cent ℔ lb on the prices current at the close of our last. The medium and low grades, which, as a rule, are always difficult to place, were to-day taken with much avidity, and the result was that at an early hour in the day not a bullock remained in the pens unsold. We quote prime at 7¾@8c; fair to good at 6¼@7; and common at 5¼@6¼c.

SHEEP attracted much attention, and, with light receipts, prices shaded in favor of sellers. We quote prime at 7@7¼; fair to good, 6¼@7; common, 5¼@6; and "scallawags" at $3.25@4. Receipts, 8,000 head.

CALVES were in fair request, and the tone of the market was firm. Sales of grass at 5@6c, and milk at 7@8½c. Receipts, 100 head.

HOGS were inquired after to a moderate extent, and prices ruled higher, under the influence of a diminished supply. Sales of corn-fed at $11.50@12 ℔ 100 lbs net. Receipts, 4,000 head.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1875.

PITTSBURGH CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals of live stock at these yards from Sunday up until noon to-day, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of the corresponding week also:

TRADE IN GENERAL.

The most noticeable feature we have to record is the largely increased receipts, and, as might be expected, a slower market and lower prices; as will be seen, the arrivals from and including Sunday up until noon to-day show an increase of 114 cars of cattle, 61 cars of hogs and 38 cars of sheep. Trade, however, continues fairly active, about all that could be looked for in view of the changed position of the market, and the indications at this writing are that the worst has been reached, and with a falling off in the receipts, which is not improbable, there will be a stiffening up again before the close of the week.

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Wholesale Dealers and Commission Merchants for the sale of Live Stock, at the Central (East Liberty) Stock Yards, report as follows:

CATTLE.

The receipts during the four days ending at noon to-day show an increase of 114 cars, as compared with the corresponding time last week, or within 6 cars of being double. Trade, as it nearly always is, was very quiet on Monday, the sales only aggregating 83 head; on Tuesday, however, several of the eastern buyers having put in an appearance, trade was more active, the volume of business having been larger than on any preceding Tuesday for some weeks, the sales footing up 401 head, but, in consequence of the liberal receipts and a good many reported, the general tone of the market, especially toward the close, was easier. This forenoon it started off a little slow, buyers having discovered that there was a very liberal supply, especially of common and medium cattle, but sellers dropped from 10 to 15c ℔ cwt, and at the reduction there was a very fair business, the sales reaching at noon 807 head, making 1,291 for the week, against about 1,280 during the same time last week. Prime to extra shipping steers, of which the supply was only fair, have undergone no quotable change in prices, but the feeling was easier in sympathy with the decline on the common and medium grades, to which reference has been made. There is a very fair representation of buyers, both from Philadelphia and New York, and the number will doubtless be increased to-morrow from Baltimore, and unless the arrivals should continue large, which is not improbable, we think the market will hold its own during the balance of the week. There was considerable inquiry for Bulls, and quite a number changed hands, mostly for shipment to New York, at prices ranging from 4 to 5c.

QUOTATIONS.

Prime 1,400@1,500 steers	7,00@7,25
Prime 1,200@1,300 steers	6,50@6,75
Prime 1,000@1,100 steers	5,25@5,75
Bulls, as ℔ quality	4,00@5,00
Old cows, stags, etc. etc	3,50@4,00

HOGS.

The market has been on the back track ever since last Friday, and with largely increased receipts, 61 cars in excess, from and including Sunday up until noon to-day, as compared with the corresponding time last week, prices have declined fifty cents per cwt on Philadelphia hogs and forty cents on Yorkers. On last Thursday and Friday there were sales at $.85 up to 9 cents, the highest prices realized in this market this season, and, if we mistake not, for several years, while to-day 8½c was regarded as an extreme price, and the market has been slow all this week. There is and has been a very fair demand for Yorkers at the decline above noted, they sold yesterday and to-day about as fast as they arrived, and with the receipts of all kinds falling off and the yards pretty well cleared, the feeling prevailed this afternoon that the market had touched bottom, and we should not be surprised if a slight advance was established before the close of the week. We quote best Philadelphia hogs at 8½, and while there have been none sold since Monday, we do not think they could have been bought for less.

QUOTATIONS.

Best Philadelphia hogs	8,50@
Light Philadelphia hogs	7,75@8,25
Fair to prime Yorkers	6,75@7,10
Roughs, old sows, stags	5,00@6,00

SHEEP.

On Monday there was an exceedingly heavy run, some forty-four cars, but with favorable advices from the east, the market opened up strong, and prices were fully maintained; some of the buyers expected a decline on Tuesday, but in this they were disappointed, as the receipts on the day in question did not turn out near as large as expected, and at the close there were but very few remaining in the pens unsold. On Wednesday the arrivals again fell short of what had been expected, and notwithstanding the arrivals from and including Sunday up until noon to-day, were much larger than those of the corresponding time last week, the market is holding its own fully as well as could be expected, and while there has been an easier feeling, prices upon the whole have undergone but little change.

Chicago Seed Market.

CHICAGO, March 9.—There was a large amount of only fair and common timothy offered on the market, and as the demand was chiefly for the better qualities, sales were exceedingly slow. Holders, however, were not forcing their property on the market, and although rather a weak feeling prevailed, prices were without material change. For strictly prime and choice samples there was a light demand and holders were asking about former prices. Sales were made at $1,95@2.30 for very poor to fair, $2.30@2.35 for good, $2.37½@2.50 for good to strictly prime. Clover was in fair demand and prices under light offerings of prime were a shade higher. Sales were made at $6.20@6.35 for fair to prime medium, and $6.60 was paid for mammoth. Flax sold at $2.25 for choice sowing; crushing about $1.95 to $2.00 for good. Hungarian remains steady at 80@85 cents, and millet at 90@95c, according to quality.

J. KABERNAGLE, Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 7½ feet and stationary. The snow is going off slowly, thawing through the day and freezing at night, but the indications at this writing are favorable for rain. Business continues fair, although retarded somewhat by the ugly condition of the landing, the snow and slush rendering teaming very difficult, and steamers have more or less trouble in receiving and discharging freight.

THE Wild Duck is en route from St. Louis with a cargo of ore.

CAPT. WM. COULSON expects to leave for Yankton early next week.

THE Juniata will take her departure for Cincinnati on Saturday without fail.

THE Mallie Ragon, from Wheeling, arrived and departed, and the towboat Stella arrived.

THE Exchange from Cincinnati, and C. B. Church from New Orleans, are among the first boats due.

CAPT. H. A. DOHRMAN is still in Steubenville, and Mr. P. J. Heuer is still in the office of the Belle of Shreveport.

THE little steamer Ida Leon burst a boiler down in Red River a few days since, killing a darkey, and losing 24 hours time.

THE appointments of captains and clerks in the Keokuk Northern Line have not yet been made, and it is difficult to state when they will.

THE new steamer Charles W. Mead, Captain D. W. Maratta, is announced to take her departure for St. Louis and Fort Benton on Saturday.

THE Carroll, Captain Tim. Burleigh's new steamer, will commence loading for St. Louis and Upper Missouri within the next few days.

THE John Dippold, Tom Rees, Coal City, Eagle and Nellie Walton arrived at Cincinnati on Monday, and the Mary Ann and Nellie Walton started up the same day.

A MEMPHIS dispatch, under date of the 8th, says:—The Paragon passed south at sunset, drawing 7½ feet, put off 100 tons here, and had room for 300 tons, but added nothing.

THE Cherokee, Captain Wolfe, will positively take her departure to-day for New Orleans, and passengers and shippers should make a note of this, and be governed accordingly.

THE Mollie Moore and H. C. Yaeger were to have left St. Louis on Tuesday morning, with sixteen hundred tons between them. The Yaeger will take it all in at Cairo, and the Moore will return to St. Louis.

THE Ironside barges are filling up steadily for St. Louis, and will be ready to cut loose soon, and shippers should bear in mind that she will be the first boat out, also that she goes clear through, no reshipping.

JOS. P. JOHNSON, an old steamboat engineer, the uncle of Capt. Throop, is dangerously ill at Nashville. He was the engineer of the Knoxville and Lexington when they were destroyed by the explosion of their boilers.

GOVERNOR GARLAND, of Arkansas, has signed the bill passed by the Legislature of that State, appropriating $2,500 to the widow of Mr. Bascomb Leigh, who was shot on the steamer Hallie during the Brooks-Baxter imbroglio.

THE Shaw vs. Dallas trial has not been concluded, and the indications are that it will consume the balance of the week. W. S. Evans and S. B. Coulson were examined yesterday. The Court room was crowded, showing that the case is attracting considerable attention.

CAPT. DAN. H. MORTON is building, at Madison, Ind., for the Burlington Ferry Company, a ferryboat 115 feet long, 22 feet beam, 4½ feet hold. He is also building a model barge 175 feet long, 30 feet beam, 6½ hold, very stout, suitable for the Missouri river. The frames of both these institutions are up, and planking is commenced on the ferryboat.

AN Evansville dispatch under date of 8th says:—The Grey Eagle got lost in the snow-storm on Saturday night, above Venatta's Landing, near the foot of French Island, and is lodged on the bank in a dangerous position. The Morning Star took off her freight, and tried to pull her off, without success. The Morning Star returned to her this morning to make further efforts to relieve her.

THE loss of Mr. Frank Leamer, of Newport, Kentucky, carpenter of the steamer H. S. Turner, at Cairo wharf, at noon, on Saturday last was very sad. He was at work in the outside wheel, and the engineer did not know it. A coal flat was being worked up on the inside of the Turner, and this, with the rapid current, was about to break the boat loose, when the engineer was ordered to work up on the outside wheel. He obeyed the order, and poor Leamer lost his life.

THE Cincinnati Commercial concludes an elaborate description of the new steamer Cons. Millar, (named after the river editor of the Commercial) as follows: We are indebted to Capt. James S. Wise for the compliment of naming his new steamer the Cons. Millar. Many years ago Captain James H. Bugher named a favorite race horse after us, but unfortunately he was beaten in his first race, when the Captain traded off the defeated racer for steamboat stock. Before the war, Captain Newt. Robinson, of Portsmouth, Ohio, named his new steamer C. D. Millar, which pecuniarily proved a success. During the war this boat was sold to southern parties, who introduced it in the cotton trade in the Southern bayous, when the name was changed to "Union," proving a profitable investment to the owners. The hull is still afloat, and used as a wharf boat in one of the Southern tributaries.

YESTERDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—The Mollie Ebert, from Pittsburgh, will arrive to-day. The Charley McDonald, with a large tow of coal from Pittsburgh, passed down yesterday....... The towboat Tigress, on her last upward trip to Pittsburgh, lost a deck-hand near Rome, eighty miles above Cincinnati. He fell between the barges and was drowned. The deceased was forty years of age, and it is supposed he resided in Cincinnati, as he hired there......Captain George W. Neare and Captain B. Frank. Pierce returned from Mound City yesterday, where they have been inspecting the damages and repairs to the steamer John B. Maude. Captain Neare says the damages will not exceed $8,000, as follows: Repairing and docking $4,827, and refitting the cabin $3,173. Hamilton's bill for repairs on the Mound City ways was $2,627.....The Gazette says the Reindeer, Wm. Stone and Chas. McDonald arrived from Pittsburgh with tows of coal. The latter had model barges, a part of which she left here, and proceeded to Louisville with the remainder.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Additional Returns of the Election.

The Largest Vote Ever Polled in the State.

The Legislature Republican.

No Election of Governor by the People.

CONCORD March 10.—Returns from all but eight towns have been received. Two hundred and fifty nine towns and wards give Cheney, Republican, 38,771 votes; Roberts, Democrat, 38,688; White, Temperance, and scattering, 678. The same towns last year gave McCutchins, Republican, 33,860; Weston, Democrat, 35,205; Blackmar, Temperance, and scattering, 2,077, a Republican net gain of 2,827; Cheney's minority, 595. The towns yet to be heard from gave last year: McCutchins, Republican, 281; Weston, Democrat, 313; scattering, 7. Adding last year's vote in these towns, makes the Republican gain 2,788, and Cheney's minority 634.

Footings from the First Congressional District elect Jones, Democrat, by 472 plurality; Bell, Democrat, in the Second District, by 154 plurality, and Blair, Republican, in the Third District, by 73 plurality.

The Republicans have a majority in the House, but the exact figures cannot be given. The Senate stands five Republicans and five Democrats, with no choice in two Districts. There is no election of Governor by the people, and the duty of selection will devolve upon the Legislature, which will doubtless elect Cheney, the Republican candidate. The Democrats claim a majority in the Council, though the districts have not been figured sufficiently to determine finally. The vote in the State yesterday is said to have been the largest ever polled.

What is Thought of It.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette, (Rep.)]

The victory we regard as an important one, and decidedly reassuring to Republicans. * * The simple fact is, that a year's experience of Democratic legislation has been enough for the Granite State, and it does not want any more. Since the elections last Fall, people have had their eyes opened considerably to the character of the Democratic party. The country is getting to learn that it is the same old party it was in 1860 and '61, and '63 and '64. It is no more fit to be trusted now than then. The manifestations of its spirit and purposes as seen in the utterances of representative papers, North and South; in the harangues on the floor of Congress, and in the scenes that were enacted in Louisiana and Vicksburg, have alarmed people of the country, and the first fruits of the "healthy reaction" are already seen. It is only necessary that the country should understand the character and aims of the Democracy to repudiate it. New Hampshire has begun the work, and the first gun in the Presidential contest has been fired.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, (Ind.)]

New Hampshire is again a Republican State. This is a strong symptom that the force of the Democratic movement to the front has been spent. The reaction will be the other way for a while. The great mass of the people of the North have been willing to criticise with severity the extravagance of the Republican party, and to condemn in some respects the policy of the Administration. The question of placing the National Government in the hands of the old Democratic party is now coming before the people. It is a most grave question. The tone of the Democracy, flushed with the promise of success, has not made a favorable impression upon the people at large. The result in New Hampshire is an indication of the tendencies of public opinion.

A Conveyance of Title Wanted.

A bill of equity was filed in the Common Pleas Court, No. 2, yesterday by John D. Carson, et al., against Robert H. Davis, trustee of John Lindsay. The orators set forth that James Lindsay, prior to December, 1874, purchased of Hugh Davis, father of respondent, a lot of ground in Allegheny city, with a front of twenty feet on Ledlie street, and a depth of eighteen feet, and that by agreement, Hugh Davis, subsequently conveyed the lot to Robert H. Davis in trust for John Lindsay; that the Sheriff sold the property to George Lindsay, as the property of James Lindsay; that George Lindsay subsequently sold it, putting the purchaser in possession; and that by virtue of sundry conveyances and devises the title to the property under the Sheriff's sale, together with the possession has descended to the complainants. That for the purpose of perfecting their title, the complainants purchased of John Lindsay his right and claim and have presented his deed to respondent but that he has refused to deliver a conveyance of the title. The Court is asked to compel him to do the same.

A Sound Statement.

A statement which has the true metallic ring to it, resting on a solid specie basis, has been made by the New York Life Insurance Company for the past year, it being their thirtieth annual report. This company occupies the fine building at 346 Broadway, and the figures made public tell their own story. We recapitulate for the benefit of all interested. At the beginning of 1874 the net cash assets of this company were over $24,000,000. The increase the past year has been over $8,000,000, of which $6,500,000 came from premiums, making the total assets to-day $32,490,000. The disbursements last year were $5,344,000, of which $1,469,000 was paid for losses by death. This leaves a surplus of assets on hand of $27,145,000, a net increase of over $3,000,000 last year. There is a divisible surplus on hand of $2,184,000. During the past year 7,254 policies were issued, showing that with good, first-class companies business is always lively. Messrs. Arrott & Lockhart, of 167 Wood street, are the agents for this veteran company, than whom, there are none in this capacity having greater favor with the public, by reason of the judicious and honorable system of business as practiced with their patrons.

PUDDLERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

The Meeting Yesterday—No Action Taken—Poor Prospects of a Compromise—Rumored Combination.

Yesterday afternoon the puddlers held a meeting at Colfax Hall, on Fifth avenue, and heard the report of the committee which met in conference on Tuesday afternoon, at the rooms of the Iron Association, with a committee of manufacturers. As the conference gave birth to no tangible results the committee could only report that fact to the puddlers, and after a discussion about the matter the meeting adjourned without having done anything. Instead of there being indications of the manufacturers and puddlers arriving at an amicable agreement the prospects appear no brighter than they were a week ago. Mr. James I. Bennett says the manufacturers will not recede an inch from the position they have assumed, and a puddler informed our reporter yesterday afternoon that as soon as Spring was fairly afoot he would go to work with shovel and pick before he would burn his brains out before a puddling furnace for $4.50 per ton.

Yesterday morning the rollers and heaters at the Pittsburgh Bolt Works, who quit work on the arrival of the colored puddlers, resumed their labor.

It is rumored that the puddlers and heaters and rollers are about to form a combination, which will result in the latter refusing to work any foreign muck bar, thus closing all departments of the iron mills of the city. We do not vouch at all for the truth of this report, but only give it as we heard it. In this way it is expected to force the manufacturers to resume at the old prices by making them unable to fill any orders.

On Saturday evening the rollers, heaters and roughers hold a general meeting at Schiller's Hall, corner of Fourth avenue and Liberty street.

THE FIRE COMMISSION.

Regular Meeting Last Night—Reports of Officers—The Sub List—New Heaters.

A meeting of the Fire Commission was held last night in City Hall. The members present were Messrs. Jones, Larimer, Chambers, Pender, McElroy, Torley and President Wilson.

The report of Chief Engineer White showed that during last month there were 26 fires and alarms, causing a loss of $55,250. The largest fire was at the establishment of Whitmore, Wolff, Lane & Co., on the night of February 9th, which occasioned a loss of $51,500.

Superintendent Fullwood, of the Fire Alarm telegraph, reported having made a number of repairs to the line and Mr. McElroy, from the Monthly Committee, reported several hearings and fines imposed in cases of violation by firemen of the rules of the department.

The Secretary, Mr. F. P. Case, submitted the following:

Salaries for December	$ 8,564 33
" " January	8,672 86
Other expenses for Jan. and Feb.	5,445 75
	$22,682 75

No warrants have been drawn for the payment of the firemen for February because the city exchequer is exhausted.

Mr. McElroy stated that in accordance with instructions new heaters had been attached to all the engines belonging to the department. These heaters keep the water in the steamers warm all the time so that when they arrive at a fire they are ready to go into service at once. The heaters, of which there were nine, cost $110 each.

All the above reports were received and filed.

The following applicants were placed on the sub-list of the department: David W. Lewis, W. J. Latimer, Robert McNulty, D. W. Leech, W. R. Boyle, Joseph Fullwood, Michael McBride, John M. Miller, James O'Hanlon, Chas. Llewellyn, J. F. Jones, John Rowan and Wm. McDonald.

The Building Committee reported that the Thirty-sixth ward engine house is yet unfinished. A number of bills were presented and the probated ones were ordered to be paid. A resolution was adopted requesting the Court to change the election polls from the Nineteenth ward engine house to another location.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

Annual Meeting of the Stockholders.

The Report of the Investigating Committee Discussed — The Whole Policy of the Management Reviewed—The Old Board Sustained —A Lively Meeting— Serene Ending.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was held on Tuesday morning at Musical Fund Hall, Philadelphia. It was very largely attended.

On motion of A. J. Derbyshire, the Hon. W. S. Stokely was called upon to preside, and Mr. John P. Green was elected Secretary.

The portions of the annual report were read referring to the results of the workings of the road. The report has already been published.

As the reading began, General Collis moved that it be dispensed with, but Col. Thomas A. Scott, President of the Road, said he thought it would be well to read the results, omitting the statistics. Whereupon General Collis withdrew his motion and the reading proceeded.

APPROVING THE ANNUAL REPORTS.

Mr. M. Hall Stanton presented the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the report of the Board of Directors for the year 1874 be and the same is hereby accepted and adopted, and that it be published in pamphlet form for the information of the stockholders, and that the Board of Directors be and they are hereby authorized, at their discretion, to carry into effect the measures proposed in their report.

General Stokes said he had no opposition to the resolution, but he thought that unfinished business should be attended to first. At the meeting in March, a committee was appointed to look into the affairs of the Company, and that committee had acted on a series of resolutions to be submitted at the annual meeting. It was suggested that the Directors should act upon certain measures, and the report shows that they had acted upon the suggestions. He suggested that the meeting proceed to the consideration of the resolutions to be submitted by that committee. He moved to amend by a motion, that the meeting proceed to such consideration.

The chair stated that there was no difficulty about calling up the resolutions afterwards.

Mr. Stanton said he would object, as there was nothing to interfere, and the business of the day should be finished first.

Mr. Stokes withdrew for the present, and Mr. Stanton's resolution was agreed to.

THE "INVESTIGATION."

Mr. Stokes then presented the report of the resolutions from the Special Committee of Investigation. The resolutions were quite lengthy. In substance they proposed certain changes in the management of the road. These changes referred principally to publishing reports before the annual meeting; making reports oftener; paying dividends quarterly; paying directors; reserving for the stockholders all the legislative power in leasing other roads, &c.; prohibiting the directors from increasing any floating debt, &c.

PROSPERITY UNDER THE OLD MANAGEMENT.

After the reading Mr. Milliken moved that debate be limited to fifteen minutes, for each speaker.

Another gentleman amended to limit speaking to five minutes, and it was agreed to.

Mr. Daniel Steinmetz arose and congratulated the stockholders on the advance of stock made a year ago. Then it was 42 3, now, to-day, it is 55 6. He stood to-day a friend of the stockholders. We have a Board of Managers who understand their business. If the resolution is adopted, it will be an impossibility for the Board of Managers to do their work. We want a board to have the direction of the company, and if you want to know how the present board are conducting the business of the road I refer you to the report for the last year.

Now, Mr. President, do we want a change? If the first resolutions were adopted it would require the board to announce the principles embodied in that report. And what does this do? Publish the very thing which to keep secret is the only road to success. It is folly to talk about a financier patented for every occasion. All you want in a Board of Managers is men of good common sense, and, Mr. President, I am glad to say we have just such a board. (Applause.) This idea about retaining within ourselves this prerogative, whilst we appoint a board, is folly. Time being called, Mr. Steinmetz offered the following, and then sat down:

Resolved, Whilst we fully appreciate the great labor and ability which characterized the report of the Committee of Examination, we do not agree with them in the policy proposed by the resolutions; but with entire confidence in the Board of Directors that they will continue in the future the able management which they have shown in the past, the full direction of the interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is confided to them without restriction or instruction by this meeting. (Applause.)

Mr. Gustavus Remak said he hoped the substitute would be adopted. The committee deserve great thanks for the labor and ability they have shown in the transaction of the duty entrusted to them, and for the results produced by them. The speaker then spoke of the £3,000,000 subscribed by England, and said that this was sufficient evidence of England's consideration of the Pennsylvania Railroad and its Board of Directors.

The committee overstepped somewhat the necessities of the case; the great results shown and obtained by them of this great road, the pride of Pennsylvania, are the greatest ever shown of any other railroad in the world. It seems that those who give their time and attention to this business should know more than we who only come once a year to hear the results. (Applause.)

NO "CORRUPTION" FOUND.

Mr. James Milliken said: Let us suppose how we came into this position to-day, and whether we are going adrift. It was intimated and reiterated from year to year that there was something wrong in the management of the company, and it was resolved to investigate the affairs of the company. To-day we have the result of that investigation. Have they discovered any mismanagement or corruption on the part of the directors? If they have, they failed to disclose them in the resolutions. Take up their resolutions seriatim and you will find that they fall as short of what is right as human affairs generally do. The gentleman then discussed the resolutions seriatim, and concluded by offering the following as a substitute for Mr. Steinmetz's resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have adopted many of the suggestions made by the special committee of the stockholders set forth in their report presented at the special meeting held on the 3d of October, 1874; and

WHEREAS, The board announce in their annual report that it is their purpose to adopt all the recommendations of that committee that may be found of practical value to the company; therefore be it

Resolved, That the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company renew the expression of their thanks to the said special committee, consisting of Messrs. William A. Stokes, William H. Kemble, A. L. Snowden, D. E. Small, John Irick, William C. Longstreth, and John A. Wright, for the full and comprehensive report submitted by them to the special committee held October 3, 1874, and that the said committee be and they are hereby relieved from further consideration of the subject. (Applause.)

Resolved, That the said report and resolutions annexed thereto, be and the same are hereby referred to the incoming Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, with instructions to carry out such of the said resolutions, in whole or in part, as in their judgment shall be for the best interest of the stockholders.

Colonel Scott then arose and said:—He came here to say nothing. There seems to be a misapprehension of Mr. Steinmetz concerning a resolution of Mr. Milliken. He has stated just what the board has stated to the stockholders. The board have agreed to make published statements whenever it is to the interest of the stockholders. Mr. Steinmetz is wrong and Mr. Milliken is right. The board are determined to do everything that is deemed for the best interests of the stockholders.

DEFENDING THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Stokes—This committee, in the discharge of their duties, believed that they were the protectors of children, orphans and others, whom they were bound to protect. It is a cause in which all are mutually interested, and I am sorry that Mr. Stanton, although I believe it was done unconsciously, embodied certain suggestions in his resolution, which were likely to create a difference of opinion. In that report everything is freely stated; the cause, the evil, and the remedy, and we cannot make it any better. We have stated that all our references are altogether impersonal, and are based only upon the principles of human conduct. We did not hesitate to state what had been lost by the management of the company, and no one can deny that if the advice of the resolutions had been previously carried out these losses would not have been sustained. We do not wish to abandon the position we have taken in favor of substitutions, but in reference to the application of the plans recommended we may make certain concessions. The leasing of unprofitable roads is a most disastrous affair, and it is customary for roads in a poor condition to be anxious to get under the wing of a corporation that can support them. Now in reference to the introduction of experts into the board, I beg to call attention to the practicability of this clause. The stockholders elected a majority of ten directors, that is six, and these six elected the remaining four. That is a close corporation enough.

The seventeenth article of the Constitution contained a clause which provided for the regulation of railroad companies which might come under its provisions in the future. We were unwilling that these directors should elect themselves, and we proposed that the committee in the nomination of directors, should recommend the names of the officers for appointment. One of the Vice Presidents is at present at the head of the Financial Department; he should be a man versed in finances; another has charge of the rolling stock. There ought certainly be some designation by the committee in the appointment of these officers, to the end that they should respectively be elected to the head offices of these branches of the road's business in which they are especially versed. Inasmuch as we have stated that these $10,000,000 securities did not add to the value of the $100,000,000 mortgage, I think that the placing of them there was bad. The recommendation of the committee is that the terms of the mortgage be complied with and the securities withdrawn. The argument of the committee is contained in the report, and unless you are perfectly satisfied with that argument you ought to reject it. [Applause.]

THE MANAGEMENT ENDORSED.

Hon. Thomas H. Dudley said that if there was anything good in the resolutions of the special committee the Board of Managers would adopt it in the future, as they had done in the past. If there was anything bad they would reject it. It was simply a question as to the honesty or dishonesty of the Managers. If they are dishonest, hurl them out. He was of those, however, who believed them to be competent, honest men, as their report showed. [Applause.] And he was for their re-election. [Applause.] He then spoke in favor of the adoption of Mr. Milliken's resolutions.

A stockholder said, that he should vote for the resolutions, as the adoption of the report of the Committee would trammel the management.

John A. Wright said he did not think any of the speakers had understood the report of the Committee. It was not a new departure in any way; the only thing asked was that certain things be made uniform, and cast no reflection upon the board in any way. There had been some errors, and some of the errors could be corrected by the stockholders; should not the stockholders have a voice in the acceptance or rejection of an act of Assembly that affected their interests? Should they not act in reference to leases, and as to the guarantees given to other roads. This had often been referred to the stockholders, and why should it not always be done? The resolutions of the Committee did not interfere with the Board, and he thought those who had spoken did not understand the gist and theory of them, and there was no desire to interfere, but only to suggest.

Mr. Milliken called the previous question, but gave way for Mr. John G. Bullitt, who said that the power given to the Board of Directors could not be divested by a similar resolution; it would be necessary to go to the Legislature to have the charter amended. This was shown in the third and fourth resolutions. If there was anything to be deplored it is this corporation going to the Legislature. The great point of the new Constitution was that the great corporations were divorced from the legislative body. He was opposed to any change in the management of the road. He did not think boards of management were immaculate, but he would not confide the powers of that management entirely to the stockholders. He believed it was the conviction at present that the President and Board of Directors were endeavoring to discharge their duties to the stockholders to the best of their ability.

The resolutions offered by Mr. Milliken were adopted.

THE DIVIDENDS.

A resolution to have the dividends paid quarterly instead of semi-annually.

Col. Scott said the charter required semi-annual dividends, and they would have to go to the Legislature for the power.

Gen. Collis offered a substitute that Directors be requested to examine into the expediency of declaring dividends at a shorter period than semi-annually, if legal and practicable—the word legal being inserted at the request of Col. Scott. The Board were directed, if found legal and practicable, to carry into effect the resolution. It was agreed to.

Mr. Thos. H. Dudley offered a resolution appointing a committee to consult with the President of the company in reference to the nominations for Directors of the Company, to be elected on the 23d day of March, instant, and that the same committee shall confer with the President in reference to the nominations for 1876, to be published sixty days prior to the election. Agreed to.

PAYING THE "INVESTIGATORS."

A stockholder offered a resolution requesting the committee to be appointed to consult with the Committee of Investigation in reference to the selection of Directors, with power to take such action as would be a recognition of their labors.

Mr. Milliken said that no laurels could be added to that Committee, and their credit would be marred by any compensation that could be tendered them. He was opposed to paying investigating committees. They would have them upon every subject, and he was opposed to the precedent.

A stockholder said they had been engaged seven months in the work, and they should not be expected to do the work for nothing. They should be generous, and offer some substantial recognition.

Another stockholder said that $2,700 had been paid for the expenses of the Committee.

Another—Only $2,700? [Laughter.]

Mr. Steinmetz said it was unwise to introduce the resolution, but it was more unwise to decline to pay for a service that was rendered.

Col. Scott said it would be a very ungracious taste for the incoming board to decide any such question of compensation. The Committee of Stockholders should decide this question of compensation.

The resolution was not agreed to.

The Mayor appointed as the committee Messrs. Morton McMichael, Daniel Steinmetz, Robert Whittaker, Genrral Collis, Alan Wood, D. B. Cummins and Gustavus Remak.

Thanks were tendered to the Mayor, and the meeting adjourned.

A CHARITABLE BEQUEST.

Donation to the Home for the Friendless.

Mr. Wm. Woolslayer has long been a contributor to the Home for the Friendless. On Monday he went to one of the lady managers of the institution and handing her $20 said that in addition to that amount he had concluded to make a donation that would probably obviate the necessity of soliciting contributions for the Home and place it on a solid footing. He then stated that when the Board of Managers expressed its readiness he would make out a deed transferring to it three acres of land in the Sixteenth ward, with a frontage of six hundred feet on Liberty avenue. This he intends as a gift to be used in the interests of the Home, and does not propose to encumber the deed with any conditions as to the disposition of the land. The managers, he said, are at liberty to sell it if they deem it best and use the proceeds as an endowment fund. The ladies who are interested in this charitable institution are highly elated over the present.

LAFAYETTE HALL DINING ROOMS.

A Place Where the Inner Man Can be Abundantly Supplied Without Extorting on the Purse.

Business men and their clerks have long felt the urgent need of a first-class Dining Hall in the neighborhood of Wood street and Fourth avenue, and now for the benefit of such we record the fact that Mr. S. T. Neil, whose experience and popularity as a caterer commend him to lovers of good viands, served up in a toothsome and palatable style, has opened at No. 63 Wood street, Lafayette Hall, an establishment designed to fill the bill of a reputable and first-class Restaurant or Dining Saloon. Mr. Neil will suffer no grass to grow under his feet in providing for his cuisine. All the dainties and delicacies peculiar to the season of our own and other countries. When desired, meals will be sent out to Banks, Stores and Offices. Suppers for parties will be furnished promptly on shortest notice and reasonable figures. In this line, Mr. Neil is an adept as many of our people can verify from their experience. Try for once, a good square meal at the "Lafayette" for 35 cents.

A Few Suggestions.

Often men and women play the prodigal with the gifts of nature as though their waste might be replenished with the return of Spring. The wine of life is drawn with not merely a liberal, but a wasteful hand, until age comes on and finds us with dissipated energies and shrunken frame, the faculties broken and life a wreck. He who would enjoy that dream of the poets, "a green old age," must practice thrift while thrift will avail. Be temperate, be cleanly, tax not your energies beyond endurance. If you overwork your eyes, blindness may follow. If you neglect your teeth, decay will result—and here is the commonest source of human wastefulness. Many treat a tooth a little damaged like an overworn garment. Yet it may be mended so that it will last a lifetime. Modern art builds from a mere stump a perfect tooth, which certainly is preferable to having it extracted, with the attendant misery of lean jaws and vacant gums. This art is, of course, beyond the skill of the ordinary dentist. Masters of the profession, however, like Dr. G. W. Spencer, of 254 Penn street, do it with the same ease that they perform the commoner operations.

"SPELLIN' SCHULE."

A Lively Contest at the Universalist Church Last Night—The "Spellin'" Lasts for Over an Hour—The Word "Athenaeum" Proves a Stunner for Both Sides—The Words Missed.

An old-fashioned spelling match came off at the Universalist Church, corner of Grant street and Third avenue, last night, which was largely attended. It has been the custom heretofore to hold a social every other Wednesday evening at this place of worship, but the "spelling fever" got hold of a number of the congregation, and last night the war of words was had. On coming together a good deal of timidity was noticeable on the part of those who would likely be chosen to take part, but when they were called to their places, each one stepped forward with some degree of confidence.

The first thing that was done was to select two Captains, which resulted in the choice of Mr. William Sprague of the well-known firm of Porter, Bell & Co., and Mr. Samuel Chambers of the Chronicle office. The two captains standing in either aisle chose twelve persons each, as follows.

Captain Sprague.	Captain Chambers.
J. Jenkins,	Jennie Armstrong,
Geo. O. Search,	O. A. Packer,
John Kennedy,	Charlie West,
Jennie Robinson,	Frank Pitcairn,
Sadie Ludwig,	Sadie West,
Harry Buffum,	Annie Evans,
E. J. Smith,	Willie Timblin,
C. C. Lean,	J. C. Buffum,
Wm. Buffum,	Frank Buffum,
Millie Irick,	Miss Young,
Mrs. J. B. Rosenberger,	Blanche McFarlane,
George Sherman.	Samuel Chambers.

After the spellers had taken their places, Mr. J. A. Robinson was chosen to pronounce the words and the sport began. The first two or three rounds that were spelled, easy words were selected, until the embarrassment would wear off and the spellers would get down to work. Mr. J. Jenkins was the first to fall in battle and not having any knowledge of a "caitiff" he left off the fatal "f" which sent him to his seat. Miss Jennie Armstrong had heard of a "manger," but in spelling it was thinking of the "mane" of a horse and brought in a superfluous "e" in the middle of the word. Mr. H. C. Buffum seeing that a "chorum" was present, left the "h" out and retired, but a sufficient number were left to transact business without his participation. O. A. Packer not being acquainted with the serious inconveniences of being a "cripple" spelled it with one "p." George O. Search had never sat upon the summit of the hills to watch his flocks by day, so not being acquainted with the business of a "shepherd" he thought Webster had it "shepard." Charlie West thought to improve on the former's knowledge of the word and put it "sheperd." Willie Sprague tried to "illumine" his memory, but it wouldn't "illumin" worth a cent. Mr. George Shearman was rather accomplished in music, but did not like the "andante" movement so put "andantia." Frank Pitcairn having no "frankincense" to offer presented "frankincence" instead. John Kennedy would not "guarantee" that his side would win but he would "garrantee" that he would take his seat. Miss Jennie Robinson, though rather prepossessing in appearance, was not willing to admit that she "prepossessed" a good deal of presence of mind, and proved what she said by omitting the second "s." Miss Sadie Ludwig believed in "consistence" in all things, but spelled it "consistance." Miss Sadie West evidently did not understand the word "remunerate," as she left out the third syllable entirely. Mr. Harry Buffum neither being "sectarian" in name or principle concluded to render it "sectarean." Miss Annie Evans had a "voluminous" word to spell, but it proved to "voluminious" for her orthographical calibre. Miss E. J. Smith, not having speculated any in oil, got "petrolium" for "petroleum." Willie Timblin not wishing to particularly display his "loquacity" used the word "loquasity" in its place. At this point only a few spellers were left on the floor and each being extremely anxious to be the champion, a terrible faintly spell came over each one and Mr. J. C. Buffum tried it "resussitate" the crowd but failing, Mr. C. C. Lean made no change in the formers orthography, and Mr. Frank Buffum offered to "resusitate" then only at the expense of falling in battle himself. Following this it was thought that Miss. Young missed the word "monopolist," and she took her seat. The teacher, however, told her to take the floor again, as he was sure she knew how to spell a word so simple. She stood up, but only to "corroberate" the fact that she had failed before, and now came up a number of witnesses. Wm. Buffum said he was willing to "corrobarate" the fact also. Miss Blanche McFarlane said she would have to add her testimony and "corroberati what had already been offered. Enough witnesses now seemed to have borne testimony, but Willie Irick put in a word and said he would like to get in a little "coroborate," too. Only four now remained and they got their work in with a will—the audience expecting to see some of them fall every minute. The interest kept up for several minutes when the word "athenaeum" was given out and it proved a stunner. Samuel Chambers thought it ought to be "athenium." Mrs. Dr. Chapman revised it to "atheneam." This did not suit Mrs. J. B. Rosenberger and she changed it to "Atheneum." All were down but Adolphus Fox, and on visiting the ancient "Atheneam," in his imagination, he fell by the way, and the contest was over.

There is something peculiar about these spelling contests which makes them very interesting, especially when the battle is drawing to a close. Every one is anxious to see who will come off victor, and usually the last one on the floor is loudly applauded. A number of other contests are to follow within the next week.

European Steamship Arrivals Yesterday.

Fire Insurance.

Mr. J. F. Irwin has removed his Fire Insurance Agency to No. 110 Fourth avenue, where he has opened new and elegant rooms for the purpose of carrying on the Agency and Brokerage. The attention of the insuring public is called to the fact that Mr. Irwin represents good companies, and all those doing business with him may rest assured they will be fairly and liberally dealt with.

Canine Pathology.

We can't "throw physic to the dogs" any more; they won't have it. A valued medical correspondent of Turf, Field and Farm begins an essay upon canine pathology in this way:—"Pups born of healthy parents, if we would but attend to their exercise, kenneling and food, are as certain to grow up in health as that inattention in these respects is certain to generate diseases." Farther along this writer gives us this rational cause of impure blood in a dog:—"Dogs reared in the country and permitted to roam at will, if fairly fed, are, as a rule, perfectly healthy. But dogs in the city are, for the most part, confined to close kennel quarters and vitiated atmosphere. They are generally fed of very stimulating and nutritious foods, and are exercised only as occasion favors on the part of the owner. As we change the dog's normal life, we must change his food to suit it. As there is less expenditure of nitrates, carbonates and phosphates, (muscle makers, heat creators, brain feeders), we must qualify the food so that it will supply only what is demanded. It is the superfluity which the organs cannot assimilate that causes enervation and disease. The blood, consisting of certain elements, requires food that will supply these elements in certain proportions. The superfluity which cannot be removed through the skin, lungs or kidneys while the body receives a minimum of exercise, is driven into the circulation, and impure blood is the inevitable consequence."

MARY SMITH died at the Home of the Little Sisters of the Poor, a Catholic benevolent institution in Baltimore, on Wednesday last, aged 117 years. She was born in Baltimore county in 1758. Mrs. Susan Carr (colored) died in the same city on Friday, aged 105 years.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Many ask the reason of Maggie Mitchell's popularity and success. It is not difficult to shape an answer to such an interrogatory. She is not only popular and successful, but is held in lofty esteem by the public and the press. Some other actresses come and attract thousands of admirers, but in the admiration elicited by their genius and powerful acting, the element of esteem is lacking because of the characters they personate. Maggie Mitchell appears only in plays pervaded by the highest sentiment, at least she produces no other kind in this city, and therein lies the secret of the hold she has obtained upon the affection of the public. Her repertory includes no such sensational and unclean dramas as "Divorce," "Camille," "Article 47," "One Wife," "La Femme de Feu," and others of a similar character. The mind associates Maggie Mitchell only with "Fanchon," "Jane Eyre," "Little Barefoot," "The Pearl of Savoy," all plays entirely free from moral impurities, as chaste as a clear mountain stream, and capable of affording the greatest degree of enjoyment. None save the hypercritical or sensation seeker leave Miss Mitchell dissatisfied or unsatisfied. She gratifies fully every healthy craving and surely none could ask for more. Her personations arouse no base passions, but appeal to the higher and better feelings of human nature. It is such considerations as these that draw for her such audiences as she played to yesterday afternoon, and the ability that enables her to entirely lose her individuality in the part she enacts, wins her the applause which is so generously showered upon her.

The Tennesseeans.

The "Tennesseans" gave two entertainments yesterday—one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. Their popularity is undiminished here and they "draw" as well as please on all occasions. There is the subtle essence of melody in their songs, which touches the heart of the hearer irresistibly and makes it in full sympathy with the song. The troupe will only remain here a few days more, and as it will be perhaps the last opportunity to hear the real Plantation Melody of which so much has been written and which really has all the peculiar inspiration claimed for it. The troupe will sing this evening at the East Liberty M. E. Church.

Trimble's Varieties.

This place of amusement is particularly attractive now and deservedly so, because a good variety bill is presented every night. Fred. Aims has been in the business for years, he knows just what his patrons demand, and furnishes them with it.

Musical and Dramatic Notes.

MR. HOWARD PAUL and the Lingards will shortly visit Salt Lake City.

ANOTHER Swedish nightingale, Victoria Bunsen, has appeared at Copenhagen.

A CRITIC pronounces Rosina Bloch, the prima donna, fat, ugly, swarthy, and old.

"HAMLET," with Mr. Irving as the Dane, passed its 100th night, at the London Lyceum Theater, Feb. 26.

MRS. ALBERTINE, an actress who travelled with Chanfrau in years gone by, is in Australia, totally blind and in destitute circumstances.

MISS CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN received $500 a night, during her recent engagement at McVicker's Theater, Chicago. She did not, however, attract large audiences.

THE manager of a Liverpool, England, theatre, has found it necessary to commence suit against an old gentleman, to prevent him throwing boquets to the actresses.

MISS KELLOGG has had a severe attack of illness in Boston, but bore up bravely against it, singing until physical exhaustion rendered it necessary for her to leave the stage.

WHILE dancing what is called a "a semi-can-can," in Louisville, Wednesday night, Miss Emily Soldene fell and sprained one of her wrists so severely that she will not appear again for several nights.

MRS. ADA GADDIS, a clergyman's widow, of the wicked city, (Brooklyn) made a successful debut last week at the Brooklyn theatre, in a new play entitled "Helene." She afterward played Margaret Overreach with Mr. E. L. Davenport in Newark and Paterson, N. J.

RISTORI went on the stage when two months old. She is now 49 years of age, has given 349 performances in the United States. She made her debut in this country as Medea September 20, 1866, under the management of Jacob Grau, who made a fortune with her.

MADAME CHRISTINE NILLSSON is well again. A letter from her, dated at Cannes, February 8, is published, in which she says that her health is now perfect. She is at once to commence the concert tour for which she had contracted with Mr. Ulman before she was taken sick.

"ELI PERKINS" is lecturing. We greatly fear that this young man will succeed in fanning the flames of angry sectional strife into a blaze of hatred. The North will never forget or forgive the fact that the White League had "Eli Perkins" at the South and failed to kill him.

TALKING of salaries in the learned professions, it is estimated that the receipts of great actors in our day will about equal those of great lawyers. Edwin Booth has made $12,000 a month. Jefferson has made even more. This year, in a season of forty weeks, Clara Morris will net about $70,000, Charlotte Thompson about half as much.

MRS BURNHAM playfully accused Talmage of taking a trip to Coney Island with Lydia Thompson and being very friendly with Josie Mansfield. The New York Mercury interviewed him on the subject, and he said he never heard of either of the women before. Then what, in the name of goodness, does he know about the stage, anyway?

IN answer to a fair correspondent in regard to theatrical matters, we would say: 1. There is no more necessity for a young man going out between the acts, than there is for the young lady at his side. 2. He does not go out "to see a man." 3. If young ladies will persist in going out when their escorts do, we believe the practice would soon be stopped. 4. But it would ruin the saloon business for a block around.

JULIUS E. PERKINS, the bass singer, died in London last week. He belonged to a remarkable family in Vermont, many of whose members have been more or less distinguished as composers of church music and conductors of singing-schools and conventions. He received his musical education in Italy, and last April made his first appearance in London, under the name of Sig. Giulio, Perkins singing the part of Baldassare in "La Favorita," at Drury Lane, and meeting with considerable success.

THE version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," played in London, at the Adelphi theatre, differs considerably from any that has ever been given, if we remember correctly, in this country. The character of Eva is omitted altogether, and St. Clair and his wife Aunt Ophelia, and Gumption Cute, do not appear. The action includes the episode of Eliza's escape with her child across the frozen river. She is recaptured. Simon Legree is made her master, and the original story is departed from considerably in the latter part of the play, George Harris returning in disguise to aid his wife's final escape from the villain's clutches, with the connivance of Cassy. Uncle Tom is a very unimportant personage.

Influenza in Horses.

The Michigan Farmer, in commenting on the influenza now prevailing among the horses of that region, gives the following from one of its subscribers as a treatment that has been found highly beneficial in such cases: "Sir—It may not be out of place at this time, as a severe epidemic is prevailing among our horses, to give the readers of your paper a hint that may save many of them from the loss of animals, with but little trouble and expense, especially in neighborhoods where good veterinary surgeons are scarce. I have had two already attacked with the prevailing influenza, and one of them was so bad that the water which he attempted to drink would run back through his nostrils, the throat being so choked up by the mucous matter which had gathered in the passage that he could not swallow. I gave this horse a bran mash as hot as I could bear my hand in it, in a pail set on the ground, so that the steam from it might pass up and loosen the matter which hindered him from eating or drinking. It is the steaming that does this, as well as the warm, moist, soft food, of which the horse eats all he can. I then took a half pound of black antimony, and two pounds of ground flax seed, and mixed them well, and gave a tablespoonful every other day till the horse was better, then twice a week only till he was fully recovered. With me this treatment cured the distemper a year or two ago.

Useful Recipes.

Buffalo Cream Cake.—For cake, take one tablespoonful of butter, one cup of sugar, one egg, two thirds of a cup of rich, sweet milk, two tablespoonsful of cream tartar and one of soda, (or two teaspoonsful of baking powder) one and two-thirds cups of flour. Flavor to taste with extract of vanilla or lemon, and bake in layers, the same as for jelly cake.

Custard for Cake.—One pint of rich new milk, one egg, one tablespoonful of flour, one of corn starch. Flavor same as cake; sweeten to taste. Boil until thick, in a tin or earthen vessel, set in hot water. When nearly cool, spread on all the cakes but one and put together the same as jelly cake, cover the top layer with soft icing.

Mrs. J. D.'s Recipe for Making Ginger Snaps.—One cup of sugar, one cup of syrup, one cup of butter, half teacup of water, half teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of cream tartar, two teaspoons of ginger; these are excellent.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, griping, drastic and nauseous pills, composed of crude and bulky ingredients, and put up in cheap wood or pasteboard boxes, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in the drug stores. From their wonderful cathartic power, in proportion to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect, but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating cathartic. The Pellets are sold by dealers in medicines.

Endorsements of the People's Remedy.

When skillful and cautious medical men give over their own signatures a favorable opinion of the soothing and vitalizing effects of a preparation, the public does not hesitate to believe them. The voluminous and emphatic professional testimony in favor of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, as a specific for all disorders of the stomach and bowels, for liver complaint, intermittent and remittent fevers, and the thousand ills that wait upon dyspepsia, must convince the most skeptical. Aside, however, from the testimony of the faculty, there is a large mass of evidence from patients in every walk of life, all showing that this great preventive and restorative is of inestimable value to the sick and the debilitated. The Bitters are suited to all climates, and are universally endorsed as a preventive of disorders caused by miasma and impure water.
